P. P. & L. WINS KEYSTONE AWARD

The honorary Keystone Farmers Degree was awarded P. P. & L. Company by the Future Farmers of America at special ceremonies during the FFA 27th Annual State Convention at Harrisburg Jan. 11. The award was made to P. P. & L. by the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, and advisor to the Keystone Association of F

F A, made the award presentation. Accepting for P P & L was Mr. R. T. Jones, the local utility's Director of Agricultural Development.

For the first time, the degree, formerly given only to individuals, was awarded to industry and other groups. Several Pennsylvania utilities, industrial firms, associations and radio and television stations joined P P & L as recipients of this year's awards.

P P & L has long taken an interest in F F A activities. Through frequent contacts with vocational agriculture departments of area schools, P P & L representatives have been able to give considerable help in F F A projects, especially those involving the effective application of electrical equipment to farm work. In this, the company has not only contributed the help and knowledge of its personnel but has had standard practices for the loan of electrical equipment to project workers.
