WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Operation by armed forces of general merchandise stores...

Defense Department claims although stores operate at no cost to government...

However, report of C. W. Harder, Commissioner of the Executive Branch of the Government...

The report states, "Post Exchanges are intended to be completely self-sustaining..."

The commission notes there are 430 post exchanges with 18,730 civilian employees in U. S. and doing annual business of $470 million.

Hoover report, also finds salaries and allowances of 1,300 military personnel in post exchanges operations are not charged to overhead.

Situation is more aggravated in operation of grocery stores, or commissaries. In U. S. 189 commissaries do annual business of $185 million.

At very least, to offset this silent propaganda for socialism, post exchanges and commissaries should be required to display large signs...

"These prices are only possible because U. S. taxpayers pay part of price of everything sold here."

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

Joe Watson was huntin' ducks the other day. When he finally shot one, he said to his dog, "Rover, bring me that duck!" And Rover walked out on top of the water and carried it back.

Joe was flabbergasted! But he tried it again and again. And the same thing happened. Next day, Joe took his pal Zeke huntin'. When he shot a duck, he said, "Rover, bring me that duck!" And Rover walked out on top of the water and carried it back.

These days, a lot of huntin' takes place - especially in the West - on tree farms, with the full approval of the tree-farm owners. Whenever possible, they let hunters use their forests, and in some cases even provide cabins for the hunters' use.

One good thing 'bout tree farming is, you can harvest your trees in any season - and when you have the time and labor available. Most fellers mark the trees they plan to cut with a blaze mark or paint. I use paint myself - it's easier to see. I like white paint, but yellow and blue are good colors, too.

Fellers who have only a few trees usually use a crosscut saw and an axe. Fellers with more trees generally use a power saw. In cutting a tree, I always start out with a notchin' cut, on the side facin' the direction I want the tree to fall.

Report notes commissaries not only sell military people, but also some civilian employees at markups ranging from 3 1/2% to 5%. Yet Hoover Commission states to cover cost of military personnel employed in commissaries, depreciation, other costs, a mark-up from 10 to 14% would be necessary.

Report takes cognizance of fact cheaply sold merchandise is one of so-called "fringe benefits" supposed to induce men to remain in the armed forces. Yet even with these "fringe benefits" and with higher pay in world, armed forces constantly complain about losing men.

In addition, subsidized service owned retail operations, cut considerable swath in potential volume of privately operated tax paying retailers. There is strong question of fairness in expecting retailers to bear brunt of providing "fringe benefits" to armed forces, if such are necessary.

There is also a strong psychological factor. With thousands of impressionable young men with no business experience taken into services every month, difference in prices at armed forces stores as compared with those elsewhere cannot help being noticed; could lead to conclusion more abundant life should include socialized business.

At very least, to offset this silent propaganda for socialism, post exchanges and commissaries should be required to display large signs, to print on all sales slips wording such as this: "These prices are only possible because U. S. taxpayers pay part of price of everything sold here."

Raccoon Retrieves $87 In Cash

Calvin A. Hooper, Lawrence County Game Protector, tells this incident. "Some time ago I was asked by Pearson Furst of New Castle, to trap a raccoon that was going through the routine of upsetting garbage containers. This rignial regularly upset the steel drum used as an incinerator. When I called with a trap Mr. Furst refused to have the animal removed, said the big old coon was welcome to play around there as long as he liked, t seems Furst went to the drum. The refuse put there earlier was scattered over the ground and wet from rain. When the papers, etc. were dried the man used a pitch fork to gather everything for burning. One brown envelope forked on the fire looked unopened. Retrieved and opened its contents proved to be a misplaced batch of valuable receipts and $87 in cash."

Buick Century 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera, Model 63D

Makes Friends with the Meanest Roads (Have you tried Buick's great new ride?)

THE SWEET WAY a '56 Buick rides on all sorts of roads is something you find nowhere else on wheels.

Capricious roads that twist and turn—unruly roads that rock and roll—tired roads, battered and beaten—they all seem to wear company manners the moment a Buick approaches.

Why? Simply because Buick comes with what it takes to put any road on its best behavior—the completely ride-engineered combination of chassis, engine and automatic drive that is obtainable in no other car.

And that's gospel truth whether you drive a new SPECIAL, CENTURY, SUPER or ROADMASTER.

No other car matches the firm, true tracking of Buick's own ride foundation—buttressed by brawny X-braced frame and torque-tube drive—cushioned on coil springs and deep-oil shock absorbers.

No other has such width of tread and length of wheel-base within dimensions so trim and tidy that Buicks turn, park and garage more easily than smaller cars.

No other duplicates the assurance of steering brakes and rear axle so precisely geared and gaited for the nimble handling that's a safety "must" in modern cars.

And certainly no other name plate promises the soaring sweep of power that wells from the big 322-cubic-inch V8 beneath every new Buick bonnet

Nor does any other automatic drive put power to its car's rear wheels with the swift, unruffled pace of Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—and that goes double every time you "switch pitch" for whip-quick, safer passing.

But why stop to count reasons—when results are what you're after? Wouldn't you rather really feel Buick's new "sense of direction" on straightaway, curves and corners?

Wouldn't you rather relax in supreme comfort while tooling this powerful performer over roads you always hated to travel?

Well, sir, we cordially invite you to drop in on us and do just that. Make it this week, won't you? Sample the ride that has charms to win any old road—and get first-hand figures on prices that make Buick owning a more positive pleasure.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
