THE KITTEN AND THE CHURCH

(A Sermonette)

The kitten is laughing. Do you suppose it has a sense of humor? That is a debatable question. It is almost certain, however, that it lives entirely in the present. Its mind is not capable of entertaining a hope that it can be the prize winning cat in a national pet show, nor is it haunted by a fear of being attacked by a dog next week.

While the present, "today", is very important and should be seized upon by man, yet, unlike the cat, man cannot live wholly in the present. With a mind that looks ahead man's heart would fail if the mind saw nothing in the future. With man there is hope, ranging from a small spark to a full degree of confidence. In facing the future he does best when he is possessed of complete confidence.

There is a great generation of hope for everyone who will establish contact with it. That generation is the church of one's careful choosing. It is a generation that has proved itself again and again to be a source of power for so many.

With the aim of fostering that which is good in family and community spirit this message is contributed to the religious life of the Community by the following:
