ARE YOUR ELECTRIC HIRED HANDS STARVED FOR POWER?

Most of today's farms and farm homes are struggling along with outdated electrical wiring systems. In other words, service entrances are inadequate, limiting the amount of electricity which can be brought into the farm and farm home... they're short on the number of circuits... and they're lacking in the number of electrical outlets. Electrical equipment and appliances are starved for power and they can't do their best work. Furthermore, already overloaded wiring systems leave no room for the addition of other work- and time-saving appliances or equipment. Top-profit farming and enjoyable farm living require modern wiring. With the proper wiring system you can be sure enough electricity is being brought into your farm and farm home and distributed safely and efficiently to your electric hired hands. Make sure your wiring meets your requirements. See your farm and home wiring contractor or electrician today. He can tell you what you need in the way of wiring to help you LIVE BETTER, FARM BETTER... ELECTRICALLY!
