I've been following the recent series of articles concerning "Teens of our Time" and would like to offer the following thoughts on the teen-ager who has nothing to do.

It is my personal opinion that most teens in our time don't take advantage of the opportunities that this community affords them. They are too content to complain about the way things are and too lazy to do anything about it. Please don't misunderstand me and think that all teens are like that. Believe it or not we still have plenty of the hard working go-getters who are trying to improve things. But, the fact is they are constantly being defeated by the lack of overall cooperation.

Time and time again I've heard a schoolmate say, "what this town needs is a recreation center," and I agree. However, I fail to see why the towns people would undertake such an expensive project for a group of teenagers who can't even support a weekly dance. In the past your editorials have been crying for a weekly dance and now that the wish has been fulfilled we can't average more than 90 teens a dance (30 to 40 percent of the teens come from Marietta.)

These dances are well chaperoned, cash prizes are awarded, music is played by request, and we have an excellent hall for these occasions. However, when volunteers are asked for, to help run the dances (clean up and set up) we receive one-third the needed help.

My suggestion as to the recreation center is simply this. Lay the thought aside for awhile longer. Let the kids show an interest in other community activities such as baseball teams, dances, etc. Let's develop what we have then worry about the future.

Mount Joy has some of the swellest kids around, and I see no reason at all for excuses. Let's go gang, and
