A broken power line caused a small grass fire and slight damage to an automobile last Saturday morning near the Elmer S. Musser farm on the Oyster Point-Salunga Road, South of Landisville.

The boom of a crane, being used in the construction of the new K & M Machine Company of Rohrerstown, came in contact with the high tension wire, causing it to snap and fall to the ground. An automobile, owned by J. Marlin Musser, Bausman, came in contact with the wire and caused slight damage to family and Mr. and Mrs. Linneus Longenecker and family were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Heber Shelly of Manheim.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Ke at a turkey supper Thursday night were, Mr. Jacob Brubaker and daughter, of town, Mr. and Mrs. Craig and son, Drexel Hill, Philadelphia; Mrs. Anna Stauffer, Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. Helen D. Bacon, Hartford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Da Mrs. Ben Myers, Lawn, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Myers, Fontana, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Mary Stauffer, Rohrerstown, and Mrs. Abe Breneman, Elizabethtown.

due to the high voltage. The convertible top was torn. Musser had parked the car beneath the wires just a few minutes prior to the accident. Sparks ignited the dry grass in the field but was confined to a narrow strip approximately 100 feet long. The Salunga Fire Company was summoned to subdue the blaze and had it under control in a matter of minutes. John Bowmaster, Lancaster, operator of the crane, escaped with no injury. Musser is a bricklayer at the construction.

Members of the Senior Class of Hemphfield high school will present the 3-act play, "The Night of January 16th", at the high school auditorium in Landisville on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

Lead parts in the production will be played by Miss Jackie Miller, John Cooper, Thomas Cope, and Thomas Reeder. Miss Mary Lee Forney, head of the English Department at Hemphfield, is director of the play. Each performance will begin at 8 p.m.

NAVY OFFERS NEW NURSE TRAINING

Chief L. J. Stevens, local Navy Recruiter, announced today a new Navy plan for young ladies to become Nurses in the Navy Nurse Corps of the future. According to the Chief, this is not a Recruiting program, but one of the forward-looking programs the Navy is designing to assist its own personnel to achieve the necessary knowhow and quality for advancement in pay, rank responsibility, and authority.

To use an example, as Chief Stevens did, here is a hypothetical case. Mary Graves enlists in the U. S. Navy and is assigned to the Hospital Corps (who incidentally, are the only WAVES eligible for the program). After serving for one year as an enlisted HOSPITALMAN at a Navy Hospital under the supervision of a Commissioned Navy Nurse, Mary applies for the Nurse training Program. To qualify she will be under 27½ at the time of graduation, unmarried, no dependents, High School Graduate in the upper half of her class, have a clear record, and be of good habits, character and motivated for nursing. For the purpose of this example, Mary is fully qualified and has the recommendation of the Nurse-Instructor under whom she had worked for at least a year.

Her name then goes before a Nurses Selection Board along with others. The Board finds her qualified, and recommends her for the program.

Mary is then discharged from her present rate in the Navy and is enlisted in grade 3 for six years in the Naval Reserve, in an appropriate classification and retained on active duty. She is then enrolled in a civilian Nursing School designated by the Chief of Medicine and Surgery. The cost of her tuition, fees, books, uniforms, board and room will be defrayed by the Navy.

Upon successful completion of the course, Mary will be required to apply for appointment in the grade of Ensign, Nurse Corps, Naval Reserve, and to accept such appointment. All applicants must agree to serve one year of active duty for each year of training and Mary is being assigned to a four year school so her service, upon completion of Nurses Training will be for four years, and she is now Ensign Mary Graves, USN. She is a Registered Nurse in her own right and her pay from this date starts at $296.00 per month plus allowances.

Chief Stevens wants to emphasize that Mary did not enlist for this program because there is no guarantee, but she was willing to take her chances on her own ability, and it paid off.
