DR. BELA VASSADY
Dr. Vassady studied at the University of Debrecen, Hungary, at Central Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, and at Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, New Jersey. He did research work in Vienna, Berlin, Leipzig, Paris, and London.

Professor Vassady has been editor of several religious publications and has written about 15 books and pamphlets in Hungarian and English. He served at many significant conferences and councils including the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches held in 1954 at Evanston, Illinois.

Since the recent Communist oppression in Hungary, Dr. Vassady has been on constant call for speaking because of his understanding of the situation and his ability to interpret it to his fellow citizens of the United States. He plans to include something of the significance of the Hungarian situation in his Week of Prayer message.
