

Donegal Hi Adopts New Requirements

Requirements for graduation from Donegal High School were recommended by the Education Committee and adopted by the board at last Thursday's regular meeting. These requirements have changed some from those previously in force and refer to subjects taken in grades 10, 11 and 12.

For the college preparatory course three credits in English, three in social studies, one in health and physical education, two in science, two in mathematics and two in foreign language are required for graduation; in the business education course three credits are needed in English; three in social studies; one in health and physical education; one in science; one in typing; one in bookkeeping or stenography and one in office practice; in the general course, three in English, three in social studies, one in health and physical education, one in science, one in mathematics and 4 electives; in the industrial arts course three credits are required for English, three in social studies, one in health and physical education, one in science, one in mathematics, two in industrial arts and two electives and in the vocational agriculture course, three in English, three in social studies, one in health and physical education, four in agriculture and two electives.

The agriculture course credit for science and math are part of the agriculture credit. Additional material was supplied to the board from the Department of Public Instruction relative to the area technical school. An appointment was made for Mr. Jacoby, the state representative, to meet with the board December 1, 1958 to further study the establishment of this school.

The board authorized the Policy Committee to draw up a set of regulations and rates for the rental of the auditorium, gymnasium and other school facilities at the high school and the various elementary buildings. Any one desiring to rent any of these buildings should apply to the building principal of the building in question.

The resignation of Mrs. Fessie Malmborg, girls' physical education and health teacher, was accepted and Mrs. Marshall Gemberling was elected to complete the school year. Carl Keefer, high school science teacher, was granted a military leave of absence for the balance of the school year.

The board received reimbursement from the state in the amount of $187,228.89 for the first semi-annual installment of regular reimbursement bills in the amount of $8,780.43 were presented and approved for payment.

Since by law, each school board is required to meet the first Monday in December to reorganize for the following year, the board decided that this meeting will replace the regular meeting scheduled for Thursday, December 18.

To Build Radar Post At Gov. Dick

The United States Army of Engineers will build a radar air raid detection post at Governor Dick mountain.

The land at Governor Dick owned by the Donegal Union School Board, consists of 1,106.4 acres but the Army will take over only three acres near the highest point.

The post is one of seven to be constructed in the United States under a new ruling passed recently by Congress. Twelve Army men will be on duty at the post at all times when it is completed.

The Gov. Dick radar post will include protection for the cities of Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington, D.C.

A two-story, reinforced concrete building measuring 14x20 feet will be built by February 1. The first portion of the project will include an access road to the site. This work is scheduled to be completed by January 1.

Joycees Tour North Museum

Local Joycees toured the North Museum and attended the planetarium lecture Tuesday evening. They were shown the collection in the museum by the late James Neal of Mount Joy, and attended the planetarium lecture on the sun.

Following the tour the group held its business meeting at the home of Mrs. James Thorbahn, Abbey Road, Lancaster. During the business meeting plans were completed for the county meeting of all the women's groups next Tuesday evening. They also made plans for the December activities of the group which include a progressive dinner for the Christmas party, to donate food and gifts to needy families; and to assist the Joycees by helping to wrap presents following the annual shopping tour of the residents of the Messiah Children's Home. Hostesses were Mrs. Thorbahn and Mrs. Frances Barto. Mrs. John Landis, vice president was in charge of the meeting.

Santa To Arrive Next Saturday

Plans are being completed for the arrival of Santa Claus in Mount Joy next Saturday, November 29. As Santa prepares for his trip to Mount Joy, the children are asked to get their letters ready in order that they may be presented to Santa next Saturday.

Santa will climb the ladder into Way's Toyland Saturday afternoon, 2 p.m., after being escorted through town by the Mount Joy Elementary School Band.

Judges Are Named For '59 Art Exhibit At Bank

Local Collector's Treasures On Display At Museum

Minerals, fossils and curiosities belonging to the late James Neal, New Street, are on display at North Museum, on the Franklin and Marshall College campus. Lancaster Mr. Neal willed his collection to the museum.

John Price, museum curator, said "the collection is an excellent collection and is a credit to the museum."

The collection had been a hobby for the local man for approximately ten years and contains thousands of rocks, minerals, fossils and curiosities. He had each item marked as to its name and from where it came. They are from most of the states and from several foreign countries. One is a vertebra of a buffalo with an Indian arrow point embedded in the bone. Another is ash from the volcanic Mount Vesuvius in Italy and still another is molten glass from Hiroshima, Japan.

Through correspondence with other collectors, he exchanged the items throughout the years, and housed them in specially built shelves in a small building to the rear of his home.

They range in size from petrifified wood tree stump to minute-sized stones.

Mrs. Neal was presented with a certificate from the college museum which contains the wording "S. James Neal Memorial Collection of Minerals, Fossils and Curiosities. A Gift to the Museum Collection and expression of gratitude for this mark of interest to the museum is signed by F. de W. Bolman, Jr., college president; Herbert H. Rick, director of the Museum; and L. D. Duersch, curator of the Department of Mineralogy."

Upon entrance to the museum, a portion of the collection is now on display on the right side of the first hall to the left of the entrance. The buffalo bone and arrow point is housed in another display in the museum.

Mr. Price said that he hopes to have more of the collection on display in the near future. The museum is open to the public Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 and Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

V.F.W. Post Begins New Home

Work has begun on the construction of a posthome for the Mount Joy Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 5752 on a site along the east end of Longenecker Road.

The proposed building was staked Saturday and as soon as the basement has been scooped, construction will begin.

James Tierney, commander of the local post, will be in charge of the construction, which will be done by the post members themselves. The building, which will measure 30x70 feet, will be of cement block construction with a brick front.

Basement facilities will include an office, furniture room, two rest rooms and one large room. First floor plans include an assembly room, kitchen, 2 rest rooms, and main entrance with coat room.

Hi-Fi Installed At First National

Music may now be heard in the First National Bank and Trust Company during banking hours through the installation of a Hi-Fi system. The system was installed last week with the speakers placed at the platform in the bank and was used for the first time Friday.

Music is being played through a Philadelphia station which plays classical music daily. The system was installed by bank officials as another service to the public.

Muscular Distrophy Drive Planned

Plans are underway for the annual Muscular Dystrophy drive in Mount Joy. The drive will be held during the next week beginning November 24 and will be conducted by young people of the town.

Funds are needed for the project through the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc. The association gives financial support through research, grants to scientists and physicians in the United States and abroad to try to find the cause and cure of muscular dystrophy. The group also defrays expenses of orthopedic appliances, physical therapy, speech therapy, and psychiatric assistance to victims so that they may more easily adjust to their progressive condition. The association also sponsors the establishment of clinics in the country.

Mrs. Alvin Bigler, West Main Street, is in charge of the drive.

Basketball Teams Begin Practices

Basketball practices have begun in Donegal high school. Under the leadership of the new coaches, Marshall Gemberling, varsity practices began Monday. Junior varsity practice with James Baugher as coach also started on Monday. Junior high school basketball practice will begin today with Hubert Peters and Donald Staley as coaches.

The first games are scheduled for Dec. 5 when the varsity will play Warwick at Litzitz and the junior high team will play Warwick at home.

Ham Supper To Be Saturday

Saturday is the day for the ham supper to be served in the cafeteria of Donegal high school. Sponsored as a fund-raising activity of the Donegal high school P. T. A. group, the meal will be served between 4:30 and 7 p.m.

The meal will include baked ham, scalloped potatoes, peas, apple sauce, rolls, butter and coffee with homemade cakes also on sale. The supper will be served preceding the showing of the senior play "Jane Eyre".

NO SCHOOL THREE DAYS NEXT WEEK

There will be no school in the elementary schools and high school of the Donegal Union beginning next Wednesday, November 26. Wednesday is teachers' institute day at Millersville State Teachers College; Thursday is vacation because of Thanksgiving and Friday is another Thanksgiving vacation day.

Early Paper

Because the Bulletin's press day next week falls on Thanksgiving, the paper will be printed one day earlier.

Thus, advertisers, correspondents and reporters who have material for next week's paper should make arrangements to have their copy in the Bulletin office one day earlier than usual.

Local Help Given Seal Sale

A number of women from the Mount Joy area were among the army of volunteers who helped the Tuberculosis Society of Lancaster County prepare for its 52nd annual Christmas Seal Sale, now underway to continue thru December.

The women filled the envelopes which were mailed to 69,000 residents and business places in the city and Lancaster County.

Those from the Mount Joy area who assisted included Mrs. Harvey Groff Jr., Mrs. John H. Herr, Jr., Mrs. Katie Wissler, Mrs. Amos Newcomer, Mrs. Alvin J. Reist, Mrs. Christ Stoner, Mrs. Clarence S. Greider, also Mrs. J. Clarence Reist, Landisville.

Boy Scout Troop 39, Mt. Joy, of which Harold Estell is scoutmaster, assisted the Christmas Seal sale by placing posters in business places in the Mount Joy area.

Members of Farm Women's Societies No. 5 and No. 8 also delivered materials in the Mount Joy and Landisville areas, as did the school.

The Christmas sale is the sole support of the Tuberculosis Society of Lancaster County, which carries on a preventive program aimed at finding tuberculosis in time for it to be cured. While the death rate from TB has been lowered greatly because of new drugs, improved surgery and methods of treatment, there are still as many deaths as all other infectious diseases put together.

County Meeting Planned For Town

For the first time, a county-wide meeting has been planned for all women's groups similar to Joycees Auxiliaries for next Tuesday, November 25. The meeting is expected to be attended by about 100 persons and is planned for the local American Legion home. Since the Mount Joy Joycees suggested the annual yearly event, local members will be hostesses for the event.

The meeting is planned for two-fold purposes; an exchange of ideas for both community projects and fund-raising projects plus fellowship among the groups at Mount Joy, Elizabethtown, Manheim, Lancaster, Litzitz, Millersville, and Landisville-Salunga.

Senior Play Is Friday, Saturday

"Jane Eyre", a costumed play portraying the 1846 era, will be presented Friday and Saturday in the Donegal high school. The senior class is presenting the play written by Charlotte Bronte.

Miss Catharine G. Zeller will direct the production with James Hecht as production coordinator; Helen Felty and Nancy Moyer as assistant directors.

Don White and Carolyn Shwaller head the list of actors with other roles being portrayed by Angelina Lewis, Patricia Brenner, Patricia Elliott, Judy Ginder, Joanne Hart, Jean Heisey, Darla Kulp, Kitty Buchwalter, Barry Barnhart, Lawrence Wittle and Barry Brandt.

Joint Thanksgiving Service

Mt. Joy's annual Thanksgiving church service will be held next Wednesday, November 26, in the Church of God beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. William Tillett, pastor of the church, will be in charge of the service.

The Rev. Emmert M. Moyer, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, will deliver the Thanksgiving message.

Special music will be furnished by the Church of God choir with Miss Sandra Eshleman as soloist. Mrs. George Broske, church organist, will play for the service.

The service is sponsored by the local Ministerial Association.

Major Repairs To Be Made To Mount Joy Post Office

What otherwise might be a small, insignificant notice of interest only to builders, this week comes as important good news to Mount Joy. As of now, Postmaster Elmer L. Zerphey of the local office, is accepting bids for a number of major repairs and improvements to the post office building.

Among the improvements listed are a new, ground-level flag pole, which will replace the one now standing on the top front of the building; exterior painting, interior painting, a new composition roof, new front entrance doors and driveway repairs.

Bids for doing the exterior painting, which is to be white, includes repainting the lettering on the front of the building.

Interior walls are to be painted light green and the wooden doors which are painted will be a darker green. The postmaster's office is to be decorated in a color scheme to be picked after consultations.

The new flag pole, to be located on the narrow front lawn about midway between the front steps and the corner, is to have a two-foot circular walk around the base.

Specifications call for a pole 35 feet above ground and made of steel.

No exact date for completion has been set except specifications given Postmaster Zerphey say that "completion shall be 90 days after notification to builder that he is successful bidder."

Bids are due December 9. Zerphey said this week that the work comes more than four years of letting with various departments of the postal service concerning the present condition of the building. He noted that his original letter was dated Sept. 27, 1954.

Pipe Repaired - Odor Remains

Southern Pipeline Company officials announced last week that the company had completed the reconditioning of 3 1/2 miles of its gasline main in the Staufferstown area. Officials met this week with the Public Utilities Commission for an "on the site" final check of the work.

William C. Knight, Southern's district superintendent, said final cost figures on the work have not been completed but that it will run into thousands of dollars. He said the six-month project involved renovating the 8-inch steel main from Ciquesuek Creek to a point 3 1/2 miles east of Sporting Hill. About one mile of new main was installed. The remainder was cleaned, repaired and wrapped with hot tar and felt.

The entire section now, he said, is "like new." Work was started May 26 by order of the PUC.

Although this work was completed the residents said the odor still persists and it's still necessary to transport or buy water. Robert Thome said the odor is still present and it is still necessary for him to haul water for drinking and cooking as he has been doing for nearly two years. He called to attention the fact that Southside had installed a new pipe line beyond Staufferstown but in the village.

Others said the situation seems to be getting worse. In one instance the company

Second Weekly in Bulletin Shop

Farming will be printed on Friday afternoon.

To meet the increased load, the Bulletin shop has had a minor "face lifting" the past two months. Machinery has been moved, work space has been reorganized and new equipment added.

Principal addition to the plant is an addressing machine which within a few weeks will not only be used for the Lancaster Farming publication but will be used to address the Bulletin.

Bulletin publishers feel that the addition of the addressing machine alone will be a big improvement step in service to its readers. An entirely new system will be involved, allowing faster and better changes of address to be made and a more suitable method of actually printing names of subscribers on the top of the papers.

Lancaster Farming was organized a little more than three years ago. In order to better serve the entire county the paper's editorial and business offices recently have been re-established at 53 North Duke Street in Lancaster. All mechanical operations will be handled by the Bulletin.

Neither the policy nor the ownership of either paper has been in any way changed.

Mount Joy Boy Makes Big Hit In Star Role With Green Room Production At F. and M.

A "Mount Joy boy" has been thrilling theatre goers this past week at Lancaster as he plays the key role in "Visit to a Small Planet," presented by the Green Room club of F. and M.

The talented young actor is Bill Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stark and a brother of Richard Stark.

A bachelor, Stark lives on Donegal Springs road with his parents and is an assistant buyer in the men's department of Garvins in Lancaster.

In the current production at F&M, Stark, a graduate of Litzitz high school, plays the part of the visitor from outer space and has a wonderful role which gives him super-human powers to accomplish all things with the sweep of a hand.

One of his best scenes is a monologue with a cat, which actually is a conversation with the animal, for as "Kretton" he can read all minds, including cats. The cat wanted Kretton to kill a certain dog.

Stark's association with theatrics dates back to 1941 when he studied at the American Academy of Dramatics in New York. After serving with a tank outfit in World War II, he taught speech at Shriverham, England. Later, at F&M as a student before Myra Ann Landress, Mount Joy R1, 14 productions given by the Green Room club. From 1946 to 1950 he worked summer stock and had the high opportunity to play with Diana Barrymore, Sarah Churchill, Jeffrey Lynn, Zazu Pitts and others of similar star ranking in the American theatre.

Incidentally, the "cat" named "Rosemary" with which he played the monologue roll, came to the F&M stage from Paris.
