The drive, it is hoped, the Pinkerton road—Marietta will assemble back issues of the National Geographic and other similar magazines. The next Home and School association executive meeting will be held on January 12 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bruce Greiner, when plans will be made for the next H. & S. meeting on January 26 at the Mount Joy Elementary school building. At that time a panel discussion will be held on the "Phases of Mount Joy Elementary School Program."

They will then be divided among the rooms at the Mt. Joy Elementary school for various uses—particularly on "rainy days." The town will be divided into six sections with a captain and several Cubs assigned to make the solicitation. In the northeast part, using Main and Market streets as dividing lines, Mrs. Robert Stoner will be in charge. In the southeast part, Mrs. James Phillips will direct the work. Mrs. Jay Musser will be captain in the south-west and Mrs. Arthur Schneider will head the work in the northwest part.

The Birchland avenue section will be in charge of the collection will be in charge of Mrs. George Berryhill and them all.

Thursday, January 14 3 The Bulletin, Mount Joy Pa. Observes 95th Birthday

A family get-together was held Sunday, January 10, for Mrs. Mary Strickler, 2 Walnut St., Mount Joy, in observance of her 95th birthday.

The affair was held at Hostetter's Mount Joy, while earlier in the day Mrs. Strickler attended services at St. Mark's E.U.B. Church. She is in good health and between the church and the family affair she received congratulations from at least 100 friends and relatives.

She and her husband, the late William Strickler, operated a farm, south of Mount Joy, for 62 years. Mrs. Strickler has ten children, Mrs. Earl W. Myers, with whom she resides; Mrs. Frank Witmer, Mrs. Charles Eby, P. K. and Martin Strickler, and Mrs. Walter Esheleman, all of Mount Joy; Henry and Warren Strickler, both of Elizabethtown; Mrs. Mary Barto, Wyncote, Pa., and Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Wynnwood, Pa.

Dairy Support Buying Is Down

Price support purchases of dairy products were down 23 percent in the first 11 months of 1959 compared to the same period of 1958, the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reported in a year-end summary of dairy price-support activities.

A better supply-demand situation, resulting in strengthened markets, made it possible for USDA to carry out its mandatory dairy price support obligations with less buying than in previous years.

Disposals of dairy products reflecting the reduced purchasing were also down from a comparable period by more than twenty-five percent. However, disposal activity was at a high enough rate to reduce USDA's uncommitted dairy stocks to their lowest level since mid-June 1951.

Total purchases of dairy products during the Jan.-Nov. 1959 period amounted to 853.9 million pounds, including 123.7 million pounds of butter, 57.2 million pounds of cheddar cheese, and 673 million pounds of nonfat dry milk.

HOW TO HOME-FREEZE CRANBERRIES

Now that cranberries are unusually plentiful and high in quality on markets, and have been cleared for wholesomeness, it is a good time to store a supply in the home freezer.

Cranberries are among the easiest and most successful fruits for freezing. Choose firm berries with glossy skins, discarding any that are soft. Wash and drain, then simply seal in freezer bags or other freezer containers. Berries frozen this way may be used like fresh berries in the recipe.

Frozen cranberry puree is an excellent product which may be served like fruit ice for dessert or with meat or poultry. To prepare, wash and sort berries, then add 2 cups of water to each quart or pound of the fruit. Cook until the berry skins pop. Press through strainer or food mill. Add sugar to taste—about 2 cups for each quart of puree. Pack into rigid freezer containers leaving space at the top for expansion in freezing. About 1/2 inch headspace is needed in pint containers—slightly more for containers with narrow tops.

Frozen cranberry puree may be served when slightly thawed—to soften enough for serving and eating. Or it may be completely thawed and used as a topping for ice cream, puddings and cakes. Frozen puree also may be made into jelly by cooking for a few minutes until it gives the "jelly test," sometimes called the "two drop test" because the hot mixture forms two thick drops when tested by pouring from the side of a large spoon. At this point, the hot mixture should be poured into a mold or into small jelly glasses, as desired.

It was said: "He who is of a calm and happy nature will hardly feel the pressure of age, but to him who is of an opposite disposition, youth and age are equally a burden."
