

To You! WHAT?

What does the right to vote mean?

A chance to cast a ballot for a friend in a local election? An hour or two, or even a day, away from the job on election day? A chore grudgingly performed that involves a trip to the polling place and, perhaps, a wait in line?

—to some people who have the right to vote secured, this may be its meaning.

—to others though, it has a deeper, almost mystical, significance.

—to the 15-year-old freedom fighter shot down by a Soviet tank in the streets of Budapest, the right of self-government—the right to vote—was worth dying for . . .

—to the peasant Chinese, slaving in the bitter agony of a commune rice paddy, the right of self-government—the right to vote—is a vision of an unobtainable treasure, the thought of which creates mental anguish . . .

—to the two young East Germans escaping from their communist masters across a heavily mined border, the right of self-government—the right to vote—was worth the price one of them paid several weeks ago—both his legs.

It's a precious thing—the right to vote—too precious to lose because one has something else to do on election day.

Another Look AT NIXON VISIT TO COUNTY

At this distance, any attempt here to add to the tremendous coverage given the Nixon visit to Lancaster would be carrying coals to New Castle.

However, it wasn't reported that one of the little boys in the crowd who was fortunate enough to shake the presidential candidate's hand commented "Mother, his hand was awful red."

And, whose hand would not be red after a few thousand and shakes?

We can speak with authority on the quality of the man's handshake. It was warm, firm and transmitted confidence.

One Mount Joy teenager was fortunate enough to shake the hands of both the candidate and of his wife. Another felt rewarded that Nixon had clasped her hand between BOTH of his.

And, it was not reported how two one-schoolers held their "We're for Kennedy" signs but clamped them and applauded lustily with the thousands.

And, if it was reported, we missed it. Nixon went out of his way to thank the high school band which welcomed him at the airport. Neither was it mentioned how he gave a special interview to a teen-age school paper reporter.

Neither was it recorded how one of Mount Joy's Main Street merchants stepped

D.H.S. Grid Team Bows To Ephrata

Donegal's winless warriors were turned back, 44 - 6, Saturday afternoon on the home hunting grounds. But not until they had tossed a big fat scare into Ephrata.

With a first-quarter touchdown, the Mountaineers had a 6 - 0 lead at halftime and no doubt had illusions of coasting home the winners.

On the second-half opening kick-off however, Livingston rambled from his own six to the Ephrata 36 to set up a touchdown.

Three plays after the 59-yard runback, the ball was on the 24. Livingston carried and he blasted into the end zone for the touchdown and a tie score.

It was one of Donegal's best moments of the season but the fans' delight was short-lived.

In relatively short time Ephrata piled up a mountain of 26 points on three touchdowns and had things well in hand.

To add anti-climax to the third period, the Mountaineers in the fourth pushed over two more touchdowns and that was the day's work. Statistically speaking, the Indians came out rather well Saturday.

Despite the score, Donegal had six first downs to Ephrata's eight; connected five passes against Ephrata's one; and lost not a yard on penalties while the visitors were set back 80 yards by the officials.

The Indians play Elizabethtown on the Donegal field Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2 p.m. The final game of the season is slated for Saturday, Nov. 12, on the home field when Patton Trade comes here.

The curtain-lowering game of the 1961 season will be Homecoming with all the traditional festivities of the occasion, including a dance in the high school gymnasium that night from 8 until 11 o'clock.

Broom and Groom SENIORS IN THEATRE

Rehearsals are in full swing for the Donegal high school senior class play, "The Broom and the Groom," to be given Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 18-19 in the high school auditorium.

Although Halloween is past, there will still be "broomsticks" flying through the air, and "witchcraft" will be much in evidence as the comedy unfolds.

Miss Catherine G. Zeller, English teacher, is directing the cast, composed of Martha Rainbolt, John Martin, Joanne Mart'n, David Johns, Phyllis Brown, Donna Charles, George Glattacker, Sandra Scott, Carole West and Terry Zeller.

Assistant directors are Jeannette Appley, Lorraine Gilbert and Carol Gratch. Committees for the play have been named as follows: Sound effects and lights—Donald Houseal, chairman, present to give exhibitions; John Dick, Dennis Fuhrman, and Kimber Lippitt.

Mariner and Fred Theobald, sponsored a sports caravan and took 100 boys and girls, Sharon Baker, on three trucks around the John Dick, Ruth Matheny district and finally back to the school for refreshments.

Another definite step in what particular supplies will be compiled and specifications for the installation of water meters for all residence users was taken Tuesday night by the Mount Joy water system is by employees of the Borough Authority as it held to be visited, a sketch made in the fire hall assembly room. The area where the service line enters the building, to begin within the near future a survey of the borough from the material gathered, to determine how many of lists of different type fittings can be compiled and specifications for the installations be drawn. The survey will be taken by employees of the Borough Authority. The Authority is looking forward to having specifications and engineering work completed within two or three months. Then bids will be sought and contracts let.

NEW POSTAL SERVICE

A new and valuable additional postal service is to be offered for Mount Joy and Florin patrons. It was announced this week by Postmaster Elmer Zerphey.

Beginning Sunday afternoon, November 6th, and continuing every Sunday and holidays thereafter, there will be mail collections from the letter boxes IN FRONT OF THE POST OFFICES.

Thus, if a piece of mail is deposited in either the Florin or Mount Joy boxes before 3:45 p.m., delivery will be possible the very next day, in most cases.

The collection from the local boxes will be made by extending a service already existing from Harrisburg to Elizabethtown.

The improved service will make it possible for late Saturday mail and important letters ready to be dropped in either of the two outside boxes—Mount Joy or Florin—to be put on their way for Monday delivery.

All Who Are Interested Are Invited To Open House

Mount Joy area people those who are interested but have been issued a special were disappointed that they warm invitation to a some-may have missed an opportunity of "different" kind of unity last month.

Several members of Mr. Carpenter's staff will be on hand Saturday, as they were several weeks ago, to escort visitors through the home offices of the Mount Joy Mutual Insurance Company, located at Main and Deitz streets.

The event, the first public open house at Carpenters Corner, is an outgrowth of the recent Lancaster County John R. Miller, 128 North Barbara street, Mount Joy repairs.

The Mount Joy was named winner of a week-long promotion this week. Because of Stacy's tender age, her father and mother hope they can substitute for her in receiving this Nov. 10, in the high school library.

WINS TRIP

Stacy Miller, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miller, 128 North Barbara street, Mount Joy repairs.

93 YEARS

Mrs. Harry Witmer was the recipient of many beautiful gifts and two birthday cakes (one with 93 candles). Three of her good neighbors, Mrs. David Charles, Mrs. Gerry Nellenbaugh and Mrs. Jacob Bechtel, brought her a love's Bible which she had longed to possess.

BOROUGH COUNCIL

The Mount Joy Borough Council will hold its November meeting on Monday, Nov. 7, in the assembly room of the fire hall.

NEW ARRIVALS

Mr. and Mrs. Luke B. Pierce, Mt. Joy R1, are the parents of a daughter, born Monday, Oct. 31, at Lancaster Osteopathic hospital.

As a public service, The Bulletin lists the following physician, who may be reached for emergency service or by those who are unable to contact their family physician:

Sunday
Dr. David Schlosser

Red Face Department — This is a true story. It happened to a good woman of the community just a few nights ago.

Two small, costumed youngsters knocked on our "victim's" door and announced "trick or treat."

She treated them and then asked, "Do I know you?"

A negative shake of the head. "Then take off your false faces," she asked. So that I can see you!"

Well—her face was then really red for the faces of the children were black—they were colored youngsters.

The committee to study the feasibility of a borough manager for Mount Joy is not dead, although nothing on the matter has been heard in recent weeks.

At the latest meeting, the committee of eight heard experts on the subject give their studied opinions.

Next session of the committee will be held the middle of this month when the manager from Shippensburg will come here to confer with the committeemen.

Now, this is about the limit. This is the kind of thing which tries people's souls.

The night AFTER Halloween someone visited the Charles Watts home on R2, and with a sharp knife, apparently whittled down to the ground a 2 1/2 foot tall Japanese maple.

BANKERS ATTEND CONFERENCE

Robert Kline and Robert Sherk of the First National Bank & Trust Co. of Mount Joy attended a Bank Lending Conference in York Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The conference was held in Hotel Yorktowne and was conducted by the Pennsylvania Bankers Association.

Such topics as mortgage lending, installment credit and commercial loans were discussed by senior officers which welcomed him at the airport. Neither was it mentioned how he gave a special interview to a teen-age school paper reporter.

Neither was it recorded how one of Mount Joy's Main Street merchants stepped

It was his opinion Tuesday that the election outcome is a "toss-up." He has been traveling with Nixon since the day after the convention.

He added that after next Tuesday he (the reporter) plans to "sleep for a week."

More than one woman wondered out loud how Mrs. Nixon could appear so calm and so beautifully groomed and so radiant in the midst of such strenuous circumstances.

The question was, "How can a woman live out of a suitcase day after day, keep her wardrobe presentable and be under microscopic examination by the public almost constantly?"

The Vice-President was described as looking fresh and rested. One woman bystander, perhaps out of her own woman's heart, remarked about Mrs. Nixon, "I think she looks a little tired."

Nor, was it reported that when the candidate gave a warm welcome to an Amishman, the dozens of cameramen who were within a few feet of the incident, fairly gasped with the realization that, "Here is an unusual picture." And—there was only a split second for the action. No posing—just a fleeting moment to catch a part of the tremendous struggle for election.

Researchers say, the average house cat prefers tuna fish to mackerel.
