

United Campaign Opens; Co-Chairman Is Named

There was nothing official about it. There were no bands playing, no flags waving.

But on Wednesday morning, Sept. 19 the new street had its first use.

True, it was a limited use, a few cars, delivery trucks, etc., but it was a beginning. The traffic was across the short stretch from Marietta avenue to the Main and Barbara corner.

Thus, within a relatively short time, Main street is beginning to return to use.

When the Marietta street bridge over the railroad is ready for traffic, the street will be ready—that is an accomplished fact.

There has been talk about the possibilities of placing a traffic light at the intersection of Main and Angle street in Florin.

The matter is in the hands of the state in Harrisburg, but a check recently by a local official disclosed that there will be nothing done—no decision made—until the Mount Joy Main street detour is lifted.

The unusual situation that is caused by the detour traffic does not give a clear picture of whether or not the light is needed.

Those involved in the Florin "annexation" case are beginning to show activity as time draws near for what may be a showdown on a matter which has been "hanging fire" for many months.

Monday night's meeting at Grandview school in Florin was one of the preliminaries. Attorneys involved in the case were slated to hold a conference this week to set up the ground rules by which they will work.

The chairman of the Borough Authority, B. Titus Rutt, and the president of the Borough Council, George Groff, have been called to have conferences to explain exactly what public services can be offered Florin citizens.

All this is making ready for a public hearing within probably a month at which three court-appointed commissioners will hear evidence as to why and why not to join Mount Joy and Florin.

A preacher preached not long ago.

On cardinal sin and status quo.

Now, we're pretty sure that cardinal sin

Is when Stan strikes out when the Cards are in but there's something we'd like to know

Like what he means by "status quo".

The donkey and the elephant both have stalls.

And gals to answers all telephone calls.

Now someday when you are in town

Use the phone or call around

At either place—they think they know

Just what to do with "status quo".

But it's even worse than cardinal sin—

It's the Latin for the mess we're in.

Named as co-chairman of the 1962 United Campaign in the Donegal Union Area is John E. Wolgemuth, it was announced this week by Chairman Gerald Sheetz.

A former Mount Joy borough chairman and co-chairman and a solicitor for the drive in three other years, Wolgemuth has been prominent and active in civic, lodge and church affairs of the community.

He is assistant general manager and sales manager of the Lancaster County Farm Bureau Cooperative association and lives at 406 Birchland avenue.

The 1962 campaign opened this week to solicit funds for

JOHN E. WOLGEMUTH
Co-Chairman

Chairmen Gerald Sheetz and John E. Wolgemuth have secured the following volunteer leaders to serve: Richard D. Smedley and Armor McKain, Co-Chairmen of Marietta; John E. Wolgemuth and Charles W. Brooks are Mount Joy Chairmen; Donald E. Zerphey, Mrs. Jack Scott and Mrs. Glenn L. Arnold are Chairmen in E. Donegal Township and Glenn Hess is Chairman of South Mount Joy Township.

The Lancaster County United Campaign film titled "Contrasts" is being shown to volunteers, industries, clubs and organizations. It is available to groups by calling the United Campaign office at EX 4-9731 to reserve a print. "Contrasts" was produced by Ed Corley of New York, a free lance photographer, at cost.

During the first week in June, he visited United Campaign agencies with Jim Cox a news commentator with WGAL-TV. Here, on film, you see the agency in action performing the services that are available to everyone. You see members of your families, friends and neighbors who because of a certain need, required the therapy, care of counseling offered by a particular agency.

Progress of campaign contributions will be reported throughout the campaign.

Florin Problems Are Discussed

Questions, answers and explanations to many problems connected with various situations in Florin were discussed Monday night in a meeting held at Grandview school.

Called by the supervisors of both Mount Joy and East Donegal township supervisors, some 50 residents of the area attended to ask questions and to learn what they could about annexation, sewage, street lights, fire plugs, police protection, etc. etc.

An expert with answers were two officials of the state association of Township supervisors—Milton W. Delancey, who is secretary, and H. A. "Cappy" Thompson, executive director for 40 years.

The latter was the principal speaker of the session.

No matters were ripe for decisions but the evening was one for the giving of answers to questions in the minds of those present.

Many of the matters on the minds of the people hinge on the matter of annexation which is, and has been, in the courts for many months but which is now moving toward an investigation and study by a three-man commission.

Court decision on whether or not there will be an annexation will clear the way concerning many matters and services which the community considers.

Places High

Arthur Gish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Gish, R2, Mount Joy, placed third in the national Interglobe Peace Speech Association contest. His extemporaneous speech, "President Kennedy's Decision to Resume Nuclear Testing," was taped and sent to Association judges to be judged with taped speeches of contestants from throughout the United States.

Donors providing awards for the winners are the Five Years Meeting of the Friends of the Mennonite Central Committee, and the Brethren Service Commission.

Gish is a graduate of Donegal High School and a junior this year at Manchester College, North Manchester, Ind.

Donegal Hi Grid Team Misses By One Point

Almost! That's the way the Donegal Indians fared Saturday afternoon as they were defeated, 20-19, by the visiting Conestoga Valley gridiron forces.

Touchdown for touchdown, the Donegal Green stood up to the visitors well and only a fourth-quarter conversion failure kept them from a tie score.

Donegal pulled into a tie opportunity on the last play of the game when Mike Lippold tossed a 30-yard touchdown pass to Colin Koser. It was a line rush try for the seventh-point which failed.

Conestoga took first score in the first period, Donegal counted in the second when Dennis Goodhart tossed a 21-yarder to Koser for a T.D. and the count was 7-7 at the intermission.

Neither team scored in the third.

Donegal took a 13-7 lead early in the fourth when Lippold plunged across from the one, Valley's Buckskins rumbled across two touchdowns and looked like 20-13 winners until the Indians put on their eleventh-hour touchdown drive for a thriller finish to their second game of the season.

This week's D.H.S. menu will be served at Ephrata, where the Indians will make their third appearance at 8 p.m. Friday night, Sept. 21.

The next week, the Tribe goes to E'town for a Friday night game.

Student From Kenya Enrolled At Donegal High

Until a few short days ago, the words sleet and snow were not in the vocabulary of Donegal high school's newest and perhaps most interesting student.

To Christine Ogot, a native of Kenya, Africa, there has been no sleet or snow in all of her 18 years. What weather will come to Pennsylvania within the next few weeks or months is a complete mystery to her.

Never-the-less, she is ready and has been ready, although she was not fully aware of the fact, particularly when the idea was expressed in English.

Several days ago her hostess in America said, "Christine we must get you a winter coat. Soon it may turn cold and you will need it."

"Yes, thank you," the young lady replied.

Nothing more was said at the time. A day later, after considering the matter, Christine said, "About this coat. What is a coat?" It was explained and then it was revealed that she has a beautiful winter coat in her wardrobe.

All of which serves only to emphasize the fact that Christine has made a big step from her homeland to Lancaster county.

A native of a rather primitive section where only a few short days ago she was washing clothing in a running stream, she now is the guest of the Frank A. Shank family, near Milton Grove.

Today, automatic washers and electric irons are wonderful almost unbelievable.

Well adjusted to using a flat iron, Christine is so fascinated by the electric iron that Mrs. Shank has trouble getting her to try other new and interesting things.

Described by Principal John Hart of Donegal high school as a bright pupil, Christine has been placed in the 10th grade, taking a general course. Her placement was almost arbitrary because formal testing was almost impossible.

She has been well accepted by her classmates, Principal Hart said this week and he was touched and proud of a letter which she had written addressed to the Student Council of D. H. S. and expressing appreciation for being allowed to enter school here.

Her message said that words—particularly the English words—can not express what she feels in her heart.

Christine comes to America with the approval of her government and the United States government after it was determined that she would have a good home and that she would be accepted into a good school.

Both were well established several weeks and months ago.

Christine has had financial help from several sources, including the Donegal High Student Council.

The Women's Association of Donegal Presbyterian church has contributed and

Mr. and Mrs. Shank have had a part in helping to provide transportation.

How did it all happen like a dream come true?

Two ears ago George Apodo, who two years ago came to the U. S. and after a year in the South came to Elizabethtown to work at the Crippled Children's hospital and to attend Elizabethtown college, laid the groundwork and promoted the arrangements, helped by Dr. Galen Kilhefner, supervising principal of the E-town Area schools.

In the meantime, the Donegal church women have been trying to do something for Apodo's people in Kenya. Among other things, they collected 2,377 pounds of books and have started them on their long way to Africa. They left here August 12 for the Obwolo Intermediate School at Kismumu, Kenya, but it will take about three months for them to arrive by ship.

Main Street Rebuilding Project Is Progressing

Big, visible strides were made this week on the Main street rebuilding project!

At midweek, the paving crew was marching, slowly, but steadily westward on Main street with a 12-foot strip of concrete stretching behind the machines.

At the same time, big earthmovers were ripping in to the section of Main street west of New Haven, clearing the way for additional work in an area that had been little touched by the construction workers.

The plan—subject to daily change, of course—was to pour concrete on Friday, continuing to move westward. Then, on Monday, make it possible, after 10 days or so of curing, to be moving the entire operation back to the east end of the project to begin laying the second of what ultimately will be four widths of pavement.

The second section will ues at full speed, welders are continuing their work of rebuilding the Marietta avenue railroad bridge. Flooring is completed but still lacks its final coating of blacktopping. Sides of the structure are now being strengthened.

Fire Company Makes 3 Runs

Friendship Fire company was one of four outfits which responded to a call from Marietta Monday morning when an oil burner caused a fire in the basement of a West Market street apartment building.

Dense clouds of smoke forced occupants of 5 apartments on the second and third floors to flee and considerable damage was done to contents of the living quarters.

The first floor of the building formerly was occupied by the Elaine's Children's Shop, but is now vacant. Mrs. Dorothy Frey owns the building.

Other companies fighting the fire were Marietta, Maytown and Marietta Depot.

Mount Joy responded to the call while still at the scene of another fire, reported only a short time earlier when a trash fire near Gerberich-Payne shoe factory had gotten out of control.

The fire was caused by careless burning of scrap lumber by railroad workers, Fire Chief John Myers said.

The fire spread out of control along the railroad right-of-way and threatened a telephone cable.

Friendship Fire Company volunteers were called Monday to extinguish a blaze in a tar pot being operated by the J. D. Eckman company, Main street rebuilding contractor.

The tar pot was standing in front of the Dr. Gates home. Damage was minimal.

Shopping Center 'Shopping' For Firms

Interest in the possibility that Mount Joy will be the site of a new, modern shopping center was growing this week following recent zoning action by the Borough Council.

As now proposed, the center would be located at the east edge of the borough on land owned by the Lefever estate.

The entire tract of approximately 80 acres, is under option by an investment organization but the area proposed for the shopping center is located approximately between the old "Keystone barn" and the Twin Kiss on Route 230.

As things stood this week, the next step involves signing tenants for business rooms on the plaza.

A representative in Lancaster this week said that contacts have been made with several large organizations in an effort to line up proper business renters.

If sufficient interest is shown and arrangements move along as now anticipated, development will progress.

Tentative plans for buildings already have been drawn, indicating business rooms and other installations.

While the plan is not for a huge center, it is expected that if the project develops as proposed there would be at least two stores bearing "big" names, plus several shops. The center was described by one person as a "junior" shopping center.

The location was selected, a representative said, because of its situation at the edge of Mount Joy, because of its ideal frontage on Route 230 and because there is not now a similar center in Mount Joy.

Since 1957 there has been no zoning regulations in the east portion of Mount Joy borough. Lost week Council established the area north of the highway and east of Le-shops. The center was described by one person as a business development.

Scouters Plan 'Ladies Night'

Plans for a "ladies night" dinner meeting were discussed at a meeting of the Western District Committee, Boy Scouts of America, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 19, in Room 315 of the Armstrong Research and Development Center.

Hampton B. Allen, Lancaster, District Chairman, has announced that the ladies' night affair, first meeting of its kind ever scheduled for the Western District, will be held Saturday, Nov. 3rd, at Hostetter's banquet hall in Mount Joy. The meeting will be held to honor wives of Western District commissioners and committee members.

James B. Heilig, Mount Joy, District Vice-Chairman, is handling arrangements for the dinner meeting.

Rotary Hears Dutch Girl Tell Of American Visit

"Ourselves, As Others See Us," might well have been the subject of the talk heard Tuesday noon by Mount Joy Rotarians as they held their noon luncheon at Hostetters.

Miss Hermina Pleij of The Hague, Netherlands, was the speaker and with delightful good humor mentioned many of the things she sees in America which are contrary to her previous ideas.

Her "fixed ideas" as she called them, had been formed from movies, newspapers, teen age music stars, etc.

Among the things she finds different and doesn't quite understand in America she mentioned having plenty of orange juice but never any other fruit juice; the fact that the dishes; showers which gave her a check for $10. can not be regulated without standing in the stream of either too-hot or too-cold water, and the absence of walking in the American way of first American money she had been paid.

It was the equivalent of four times that amount in her homeland and she was so overjoyed that she did not want to cash the check. On the promise that she would not cash it, one of the Rotarians gave her a $10 bill.

A Look At "Who's Tampering With The Soul Of America"

One of the most-talked-of pieces of current writing is called, "Who Is Tampering with the Soul of America?"

Written as an address by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, who is "fed up" as an "Angry American" about low standards, low morals and low ambitions, it has caused a considerable amount of comment across the nation.

He speaks for thoughtful men and women and here, in greatly abbreviated statements, are some of his penetrating thoughts:

"Human progress has never been steady. It has washed back and forth like waves upon a beach. Happily there has also been an incoming tide, so the waves have washed higher and higher as each great civilization came on. But the pathway of history is littered with the bones of dead states and fallen empires . . . I don't want my children's children to go through a couple of centuries of dialectic materialism before the sun comes up again. "I look upon our own country and much that I see disturbs me . . . We have much to teach the world, and if America should go down soon it would be too early." In commenting upon entertainment, which he calls dirt, he says,

"But they don't call it dirt. They call it 'realism.' Why do we let them fool us? Why do we nod obediently when they tell us that filth is merely a daring art form, that licentiousness is really social comment? . . . Bawdiness has put on a dinner jacket, and seats in the orchestra that used to go for six bits are now scaled at $8.80. Oh, yes, we have lots of 'realism.' Incestuous Americans. Perverted Americans. Degenerated Americans. Murderous Americans. How many of these 'realistic' Americans do you know? . . . "Don Maxwell of the Chicago Tribune has recently asked his book department to quit advertising scatological literature by including it in the list of best sellers. The critics and the book publishers have denounced him for tampering with the facts. I would like to raise a somewhat larger question: Who is tampering with the soul of America? . . . "When nations cease believing in themselves, when they regard their institutions with cynicism and their traditions with flippancy they will not long remain great nations. When they seek learning without effort and wages without work they are beginning to stagger. . . . When payola becomes a way of life, expense accounts cheating common, and union goonery a fiercely demanded 'right' that nation is in danger. . . . "There is rot and there is blight and there is cutting out and filling to be done if we, as the leader of free men, are to survive the hammer blows which plainly are in store for us all . . . "Let's cover up the cess-pool and start planting some flowers . . . I am fed up to
