in or Mount Joy has "bit off more than it can chew."

No one has any feeling that there are questions which can not and will not be resolved when and if the proper time comes.

Another person remarked that this annexation deal is a little like raising a family. His idea was that, like most good things a family and the annexation—can not be accomplished quickly and can not be done without a certain amount of headache and home heartache. Yet, the result is well worth the efforts involved.

As far as this column has been able to learn, all municipal units involved are acting in good faith during this period of uncertainty and transition.

One of the first questions concerned snow plowing in case of a storm. It was a logical question and to the credit and honor of those involved, arrangements seem to have been made and assurances given by the proper people.

An objective view of the situation indicates that the entire community is having a good look at the new baby and is taking a wise, long look before taking quick, ill-advised action.

Any doctor will point out that most of the midnight calls he receives from new parents about the baby are not emergencies. A bit of patience, a bit of logic and a bit of understanding and a little time will resolve the problem.

An assembly program was presented at the Donegal Annex Feb. 1 by the 7B section as follows:
Connie Simmons served as announcer. Kay Bell and Shirley Sontz played a piano duo, "Jolly Darkies." Barbara Hean played a piano solo, "Starlight Waltz." Marjorie Sloan gave a flute solo, "High School Cadets" and Mary Greer played "Dreaming" on her accordion. The dance band played at the beginning of the program, and a film, "Born in Freedom" was shown at the close.

Last week the subject of Memorial park was mentioned again in this column.

One reaction from one reader was to suggest that "someone", maybe the Boy Scouts, would be interested in installing a few "appropriate" bird houses in the park.

The thought was that they should be small "one family" bird houses. The "apartment" style houses were not thought to be "appropriate."

When houses and a couple of bird feeders were the suggestion made to this column.
