PP&L Schedules Six Seminars For Planners

Six seminars keyed to a "grass roots" approach to the problems of community planning will be held this year, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.

Speakers will discuss topics of interest to the areas in which the seminars are conducted. Expansion of this phase of PP&L community planning activities is due to the success of seminars sponsored by the utility in previous years in which principles and benefits of community planning were outlined for community leaders in Central Eastern Pennsylvania.

Seminars will be held in Hazleton, Lancaster, Scranton, Williamsport, Harrisburg and Allentown, covering all 6 divisions of PP&L throughout its 10,000-square mile service area. Community leaders, directors of planning agencies, members of planning commissions and other elected and appointed civic officials will attend the sessions.

"PP&L was encouraged to expand this program by the interest shown during and after the 1962 seminar," said Jack K. Busby, company president. "Representatives of communities indicated they now have a clearer picture of some of the mutual problems they face, and we are sponsoring the seminars this year in an attempt to develop a practical approach towards solving these local and regional problems. "Our community leaders recognize that development and redevelopment demand composite consideration and action by related cities, counties, boroughs and townships. The seminars will particularly examine the efficiencies and economies possible by cooperation among units and the co-ordination of planning processes on a regional scale."

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

IF YOU KNEW WHAT

TINY LUND KNOWS ABOUT FORD DURABILITY...YOU'D BE OUT ENJOYING A '63 FORD

Ask Tiny Lund about Ford durability: He'll tell you how it helped him win America's toughest stock-car competition, the Daytona 500. Lund placed first in a Ford, with four other Fords right behind him for an unprecedented sweep of the first five places. Only the Fords were tough enough to stand the pace.

Greater durability is the reason Ford is able to offer a total-car warranty. Only a true total-performance car could offer as complete a warranty as this—with no strings attached:

"Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers, in turn, warrant to owners as follows: That for 24 months or for 24,000 miles*, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will be made by the tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance services, routine replacement of parts, such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades, brake or clutch linings, and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items."

You can't put a long-term warranty like ours on a short-term car. The '63 Fords have a better warranty because they're built better than any Fords in history. You see evidence of this extra toughness in Ford's outstanding competitive wins this year. '63 Fords won the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, and the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only cars with total performance could roll up so many big wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Remember: If it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.
