Florence Starr Asks $5,000

Florence L. Starr, 122 N. Barbara Street, has filed a damage suit at the Lancaster County courthouse seeking in excess of $5,000 as a result of an accident last June at the intersection of Main & Market streets.

The complaint states that John B. Van Stone, a driver for the Falco Products Company, Philadelphia, was negligent when his truck struck her car after running through a red light.

Damages represent auto repairs, injuries incurred, and loss of wages.

The Colebrook Lutheran annual Sunday School picnic will be held on the picnic grounds adjoining the church on Saturday, July 27. There will be music by the Malta band.

Everyone welcome.

On Six-Wks. Trip

Seven boys who graduated from Donegal high school this year and are members of the Witness Oak Chapter of Future Farmers are taking a six weeks tour of the western United States. They left July 8th. They are Reinhold Berg, Jay Bixler, Larry Brubaker, Carl Ginder, Walter Mowrer, Glenn Musser, and Donald Ney, with Harry Smith as chaperon.

They toured a Seed Corn plant in Indiana; Purina research farms in Missouri; Echo Ranch in Kansas which consists of 4,000 acres; Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico; visited across the border in Mexico; Grand Canyon of Arizona. They arrived in California July 20, visited Disneyland and expect to spend about one week in California. The boys met the Manheim F.F.A. group at one of the laundromats. They are going to the state of Washington after leaving California.

● Limb

big limb from high on the west side of the tree came crashing down onto the east side of the building, striking the new passageway between the old part of the historic church and the new church education addition.

The debris was cleared away Tuesday.

Even to notice the damage now, one must stand under the tree and look closely to be sure of the exact spot where the limb was attached. There is no visible splintering area as viewed from the ground.

At the time the limb fell, the church members were considering the purchase of additional property adjacent to the historic church site.

As finally settled, the congregation plans to buy what amounts to three additional parcels from the Cameron estate.

The three include the lot on which an older brick house is located just east of the parking lot, another and newer brick home next east occupied by Grant Miller, and an "L" shaped tract of land which includes about 3½ acres.

The acreage is an area north of the two houses and east, adjoining the property of H. F. Gieg.

● Vote to Change

Teachers, apparently prefer the "double-loaded corridor" style. One teacher was quoted as saying, "If you do build the 'double-loaded' building, may I change my room into that section?"

Schoolmen commented that "This open-court, construction may be all right for a milder climate."

Although the board's thinking now is different, it felt at the time the two elementary buildings were constructed that the most space and the most facility was being purchased for the dollars being spent.

Both buildings include all-purpose rooms.

Although no architectural drawings have been made, it is assumed at this time that the addition at Grandview will probably extend westward from the present building.

Presently, the schoolmen are thinking in terms of six class rooms, a kindergarten room and a library (which is mandated by the state.) A proposed special education room was turned down last Thursday night.

The anticipation is that the addition will be built and ready for use in the fall of 1964.

A contract for painting the Maytown elementary school was awarded at the Thursday night meeting.

The successful low bidder was Harold Kling, whose bid included $670., exterior, and $108 for the gymnasium.

Three other bids were submitted.

The board approved a suggestion by the committee for the employment of a woman janitor and authorized advertising for a woman to work from 3 to 6 p.m. at $1.35 per hour.

It was announced that three light standards will be in use at the Marietta elementary school at a rental of $4 per month.

New mowing equipment for the Washington School, Florin, was purchased for $432.

It was announced that an improved bus schedule will be possible with the addition of four more buses, bringing the total to 13.

Employed were Miss Dolores Vaytko, a graduate of Slippery Rock State College, girls' health and physical education, and Miss Olive A. Binner, a Lebanon Valley College graduate, English and social studies.

Vacancies still exist in Grades 1 and 2, Marietta; Grades 2 and 6, Maytown; and girls physical education at the annex and English and special education, at the high school.

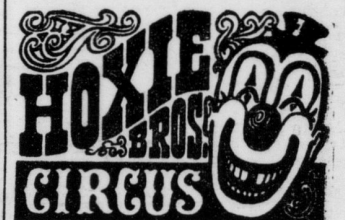

Another vacancy in the teaching staff was created this week by the resignation of Carlin E. Brightbill, high school mathematics teacher. He will join Remington-Rand as technician connected with electronic machines.

The board established two policies which concern 12th grade students whose parents move from Donegal district; pupils having completed elementary school and high school up to and including eleventh grade and who have moved from the district may return to grade 12, tuition free, with transportation to be provided by the parents to the school or to the nearest bus stop; and pupils completing grades 7-11 may return to grade 12 on a tuition basis.

Mrs. Katherine Bennett, cafeteria supervisor, submitted for approval a list of companies from whom supplies are purchased.
