Of This 'n That

bowls, trays and spoons for serving the soup. There was even a huge, modern electric dishwashing system close at hand, so that the bowls could be used over and over again in a hurry! Iron cranes and a conveyor system took the kettles from the fire to the place where the soup was ladled out to the long lines of waiting customers! It was quite a sight!

Pig Roast

Then, just two weeks after the Bean Festival, we went up into the mountains near Ephrata, to Lebzelter's Grove at Mount Airy, for a Rally of the travel trailer club.

Here we were treated to another feast! Hosts for the rally had arranged an open charcoal pit, and roasted four young pigs, to the amazement and delight of the 250 people assembled there!

We saw the pigs put on the spit, and watched them turn from chalky white to a rich, golden brown in the 6 hours that they were on the fire. Such a heavenly aroma as spread through the beautiful oak grove, and such a hungry crowd as "fell to," when the meat was carved and served with the "potluck" of vegetables, salads and desserts prepared by the women of the group.

Presiding at the roasting event was Sam Kaylor of Landisville, a relative of many people in the Mount Joy area. Sam was ably assisted by his nephew, Jay, and Bill Johns of Pequea RI, Max Nettke of Lancaster, and Joe Smith of Manheim.

Prize Jam

But now, lest we leave the impression that "the fields far off are greener," we would say that the bean soup and the roast pig were no better than that delectable jam which was given to us a week or so ago by one of our good Mount Joy friends, Mrs. Barbara Fellenbaum, South Market street.

Made of peaches and maraschino cherries, it is particularly delicious, and we wonder if perhaps that might be because of another ingredient, the kindness and graciousness of its maker!
