

Colorful Florida Seacoast Salad

October 1 through 21 is Fish 'n Seafood Parade time—time to mix a colorful, refreshing salad that's glamorous-looking but relatively inexpensive to serve. Chilled fresh shrimp, green beans, macaroni shells and pimiento combine with crisp celery and zesty canned Florida grapefruit sections. (Of course, fresh Florida grapefruit is delicious to use, and it will appear soon in your market.) The accompanying remoulade dressing contains frozen Florida grapefruit juice concentrate to give it extra pungency.

Florida Seacoast Salad

|---|--|
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1/4 cup diced pimiento |
| 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard | 1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut green beans, thawed or 1 can (1 pound) cut green beans, drained |
| 1/2 cup salad oil | 1 1/2 cups sliced celery |
| 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco | 3 cans (1 pound each) Florida grapefruit sections, drained and chilled |
| 1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida grapefruit juice concentrate, thawed, divided | Salad greens |
| 2 pounds raw shrimp, cooked and cleaned | |
| 2 cups cooked macaroni shells (1 cup raw) | |

Combine salt, dry mustard, salad oil and Tabasco in bowl. Add grapefruit juice concentrate reserving 2 tablespoons for Grapefruit Remoulade Dressing*. Add shrimp and refrigerate several hours or overnight, stirring once or twice. Combine cooked macaroni shells, pimiento, green beans and celery; mix well. Drain seafood and add with grapefruit sections to macaroni mixture; toss lightly. Serve over crisp greens with Grapefruit Remoulade Dressing. YIELD: 8 servings.

|----------------------------|---|
| 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco | 2 tablespoons frozen Florida grapefruit juice concentrate (reserved from salad) |
| 1/2 cup mayonnaise | 2 teaspoons horseradish |
| 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped | |
| 1/4 cup chili sauce | |

Blend Tabasco into mayonnaise. Reserve some of chopped egg for garnish. Add remaining egg and other ingredients. Garnish with chopped egg. YIELD: 1 cup.

Growth Often Hides Signs

Favorable climatic conditions have accelerated the growth of trees, ornamental bushes, flowers and other vegetation to the point where it has become dangerous by obscuring motorists' vision at many intersections, says Keystone Automobile Club.

Keystone has received complaints from drivers concerning such "blind" corners, according to Edward P. Curran, Club Safety Director.

"The danger is pointed up partially or wholly obscured warning and stop signs are partially or wholly obscured by overhanging trees or bushes," he declared.

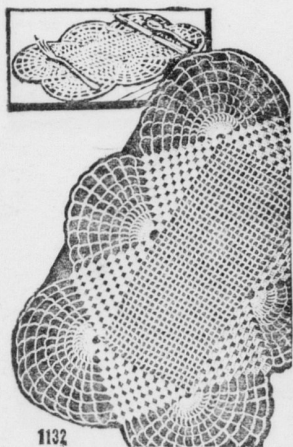

"Motorists on stop streets who cannot see the signs enter intersections without warning of possible danger and in ignorance of violating the law. Obviously, drivers using the intersecting 'protected' streets also are endangered because they believe they are using 'through' streets.

"The remedy is two-fold. Property owners should immediately trim back overgrown trees and shrubs and open up corners for better vision. Motorists should be especially alert at intersections where foliage could be contributing to danger.

"Many suburban areas have their police forces check on such conditions and order them corrected. Many others do not, of course, and it becomes the property owners' and motorists' duty alike to combine efforts in reducing this danger."
