we sincerely hope that all of you readers will become better acquainted with the activities of our Agricultural and Home Economics Extension Service. In Lancaster County it is difficult to conduct meetings, tours, or demonstrations that will be of interest to everyone; by the same diversification of interests, it is not possible to write letters or news articles that will benefit every single person. However, we urge all persons to be on the alert for such educational events that will benefit their particular field of endeavor. The need for more education and knowledge is greater than ever before; we hope that you will take advantage of the various opportunities.

Free Plan for Fence

BY BUILDING a basket-weave fence, you at once enhance the appearance of your property, create privacy and create a wind-break which also ventilates.

Fast growing in popularity as a material for making such a fence is Masonite Weatherall Siding, because it comes in a popular width, 12", is primed on one side and stands up well against the elements.

In addition, it's easily-handled and has no splinters. The tempered hardboard siding is woven between wooden posts, four inches square, placed about four feet apart.

A free plan showing how to build a woven fence and three other types may be obtained by writing the Home Service Bureau, 29 North Wacker Drive, Chicago 6, Illinois, and requesting AE-309. Other styles shown are "The Good Neighbor," "Double Header" and "Hanging Garden."
