The great highway performer

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan and (background) Impala Convertible

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?
If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.
You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.
There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*
And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS Chevrolet • Chevelle • Chevy II • Corvair • Corvette
See them at your Chevrolet Showroom

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.
Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them. And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.
Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet. *Optional at extra cost

Mr. Editor:
I am not writing this to find fault with your article in your lat weeks paper about Christmas seals.

At the same time I came across this in another paper Look magazine, March 15, 1960, carries an article, Where Do your-Charity Dollars Go. Find it in your public library and be informed. Here are some quotations:

"Over 23 cents out of every dollar you shell out for its "National Tuberculosis Association" Christmas Seal campaign is really eaten up by fund-raising expenses." It actually spent less than $900,000 for research out of 25 million given for various Chapters.

Of the American Cancer Society, "It's national headquarters gets half of the local take. Out of the Chapters half, over $300,000 or some 55 per cent of the total went for wages. How much of your dollars meanwhile, do the rackets get?"

Sincerely,
Paul R. Newcomer
P.S. However I do contribute.

LETTER TO EDITOR

December 27, 1963

Dear friends,
Each week we look forward to THE BULLETIN and enjoy all of the news — and the views — from home. In your December 24 issue "Main Street" mentions the many facets to the Dallas tragedy. There has been very little mention of the Oswald family, the innocence and plight of that young mother—I thought you would be interested in copies of a few clippings.

May you, your staff, and THE BULLETIN have a wonderful 1964.

Sincerely,
Donald Reist

A MOTHER IN NEED
Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of John F. Kennedy, left, at his death, his young Russian-born widow and two infant children, June, 22 months, and Audrey

Marina Rachel, six weeks. At the hurriedly dug grave Mrs. Oswald, who demonstrated almost stoic composure, stooped to kiss her dead husband and to slip two rings on his finger. Then she wept bitterly. Her babies cried by her side.

We cannot imagine her feelings. We do not know. Certainly she senses that she and her children will have the stigma of a husband's and father's sin. Sympathizers and supporters have been few.

A West York, Pa., area high school student body has acted positively. The student body organized a campaign to give aid to Mrs. Oswald and her children.

"We want all to know that we are going to do all in our power to wipe out all traces of hatred and prejudice in our land. Our first effort along these lines will be to organize a campaign to raise funds for the widow and children of the accused assassin."

(Gospel Herald, Scottdale, Pa. 12-17-63)

William F. Goodling, school principal and the son of United States Representative George A. Goodling of Pennsylvania, said: "This might be a controversial beginning, but nevertheless it is a start in an attempt to wipe out the hatred and prejudice which are now flourishing in the U. S. A." Contributions from the general public were invited.

So it is that we do not wipe out hatred by more hatred. The atrocious act of hatred in the killing of a beloved president is righted by more hatred. Here, in our feelings and actions toward the victims of wrong, is a place to begin to wipe out hate by love.—D.
