Over The Back Fence

THE FILING OF YOUR Income Tax Return becomes an important obligation this time of the year. Accurate records throughout the year are most important in helping to make the proper tax report. It's still not too late to start a good farm record book for 1964. Regardless of who completes your tax return, these farm accounts are very important. Also, please bear in mind the person or persons signing the Income Tax Return are the ones responsible for the figures.

CATTLE AND HOG feeders should make every effort to reduce the cost of weight gains in order to make ends meet. To be successful on a minus margin is very difficult and requires careful feeding and management. The use of silage and roughages have been mentioned previously as a means of lower feed costs. Now the control of cattle lice is important to get the most gain per pound of feed. We have noted some lots of cattle that are doing considerable rubbing and wasting feed trying to become comfortable. Dusting or spraying with a number of different insecticides at least thirty days before slaughter will stop the problem.

Timely Tips for Women

Knitting Helps:

Are dropping stitches off your knitting needle a problem? To prevent stitches from dropping off the needle, place a cork on the end of the needle when you set it aside.

Man On The Move:

Travel easy and light are the rules for the mobile man. Six suggestions for the suitcase are:

1. A light weight hat to snap into shape.
2. Cotton poplin topcoat to double as a raincoat in summer.
3. Light wash and wear suit in summer or rugged sharkskin that resists wrinkles in winter.
4. Wash and wear cotton or synthetic blend shirts.
5. Nylon stretch hose.
6. On trips of more than one day, take along an extra pair of shoes.

Clothing Outlook

All-cotton stretch fabrics are being produced in garments to provide increased comfort. Nurse's uniforms, blouses, sport and dress shirts, pants and slacks, and corduroy garments or socks will be seen in abundance

The Worry Clinic

Lola is just like thousands of other college fresh men who will flunk out of school before the end of the first semester. For these young folks cannot read swiftly; You parents can help insure your children much higher grades, even in high school, by the methods outlined below, so scrapbook this case.

CASE N-431: Lola G., aged 18, is a college freshman. "But, Dr. Crane," she moaned, "I om not a fast reader so I could spend the entire night on my outside reading assignments and still not finish them.

"Besides, I don't seem to remember much of what I do read, so I just know I shall get low grades and be forced to drop out of school by next term unless some miracle happens.

"Can you please offer me that miracle?"

Lola's Miracle

Yes, indeed, for there is a definite way by which any normal person can zoom his reading rate, as well as his retention of what he reads.

First, Lola should spend a few hours each week in a "Reading Clinic", such as many colleges now conduct.

Therein the students can easily quadruple their reading speed just by having pages of copy flashed in front of them for a few seconds at a time.

For many years in our psychology laboratories we have used a machine called a tachistoscope which lets us expose printed copy for brief moments of time.

Nowadays, an adaptation of this machine is employed in many high schools and colleges to speed up the reading rate of slow readers.

Some formerly very slow readers who could spend all

48th Annual Farm Show In Progress

The 48th Annual Pennsylvania State Farm Show, the largest free Agriculture exposition under roof in the United States, is going all out to break the attendance record of 690,000 visitors chalked up last year at the Farm Show building in Harrisburg. The show closes this weekend.

The farm show is big — a veritable giant, as evidenced by some of the projected statistics for this year's show.

It is estimated there are 10,500 entries worth $10,000-000 and prizes worth $65,000. The main exhibition building is 11 full acres under one roof with an area capable of seating nearly 8,000 people, plus 50 acres of parking for 15,000 vehicles—on the lighter side it is estimated over 110,000 baked potatoes will be served with a half-ton of butter.

Needless to say, while the Annual Pennsylvania Farm Show reflects Pennsylvania's flourishing agricultural enterprise, it also makes its contribution to the Commonwealth's growing tourist and travel industry. The amazing attendance figures attest to the numbers of people brought to the area as spectators and exhibitors. License plates from neighboring states are much in evidence and special buses are assigned to the event.

The Pennsylvania Department of Commerce joins with the Department of Agriculture in inviting everyone to the 48th Annual Pennsylvania State Farm Show, Jan. 13 through Jan. 17, at the Farm Show Building in Harrisburg, Pa.

Mark Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stumpf of Elizabethtown R1, observed their 50th wedding anniversary on Monday and in their honor a drop-in party was held over the weekend.

They were married Jan. 6, 1914, at Lititz by the late Rev. Jacob Hershey.

Mrs. Stumpf, who is seventy, is a native of Lititz. She is the daughter of the late Jacob W. and Annie B. Musser. Her husband, who is seventy-six, was born a short distance from where the couple now resides. He is a son of the late Adam and Susanna E. Stumpf.

They are the parents of two children: Adam Stumpf, Elizabethtown R3; and Lila D., wife of Harold L. Stahl, Pittsburgh. There are also six grandchildren.

Mastersonville P. T. A.

Conservation and Education will be the theme of a talk by Henry Hackman at the January 16 meeting of the Mastersonville Parent Teachers Association beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the elementary school.

Hackman, a farmer, a teacher at Donegal high school and a director of the Lancaster County Soil Conservation District, will show slides of conservation work done in the county.

The program will include a Founders Day Observance and election of officers.

The invocaion will be offered by Rev. and Mrs. Jesse Dourte. Music will be provided by a quartett of P.T.A. patrons.

The meeting will be followed by refreshments and a social hour.

Co-Op To Meet

Two directors, to serve three years, are to be elected at the annual meeting of the Mount Joy Farmers cooperative, to be held Monday nite, January 20.

The two to be named will fill the places now held by Abner H. Risser, Bainbridge, R1, and Jacob F. Schock, of Washington Boro, R1.

The dinner will begin at 6:45 p.m.

Harold Endslow, who recently went to Europe with the "People - To - People" program, will show pictures of his trip. There will be special music by a quartet from Palmyra.

Oliver Kibler of Washington Boro is chairman of the nominating committee.

Prayer Of The Week - - -

The prayer this week is by Samuel McComb: "Ever Blessed God, whose word is, 'Peace, peace to him that is far off and to him that is near,' fulfill Thy promise to us thy servants. Rescue us from the misery of groundless fears and restless anxieties. Take us more and more out of ourselves, that duty may be no longer a drudgery but a delight. Lead us into the secret of Thy peace which quiets every misgiving and fills the heart with joy and confidence. Save us from the shame and emptiness of a hurried life. Grant us to possess our souls in patience. Amid the storms and stress of life, let us hear a deeper voice assuring us that Thou livest and that all is well.

"Strengthen us to do our daily work in quietness and confidence, in the calm assurance that Thou dost beset us behind and before, and layest Thine hand upon us. All this we ask for Jesus Christ's sake. Amen."
