to apply for top yields; however, the farmer himself must manage his operations to get done on time. Early-planted spring oats (late March or early April) will give greater returns than late-planted oats. Many other crops and farm operations need proper timing for best results.

Yes, that's right, I was just plain whipped as to what to do about our old drab furniture and woodwork until I went to Cassel and Graham Paint store and they showed me 'Old Masters Liquid Wood' to create beautiful blond wood finishes without messy removing, tiresome scraping or costly bleaching.

fertilizer should be mixed into the soil before planting, or placed in bands about two inches from the seed or the plant roots. Superphosphate fertilizer is less caustic to seeds and plants but when mixed in a complete fertilizer, there is still danger of burning.

lawn early in the spring; there seems to be two schools of thought on the subject. Personally, I doubt that it will be the answer to many problems. In addition, there is danger of getting the soil too tight and too compact for good turf root growth; this is especially true on clay-type soils that are low in organic matter. By running a heavy roller over this clay soil when it is wet in the spring, there is danger of getting it too hard and too tight for good root growth. On the other hand, with sand or gravel soils, or soils that are loamy and high in organic matter, and where the turf is rough through winter heaving, it is advisable to roll in the early spring. Don't have your lawn rolled because you see your neighbor doing it; it is possible that he may have a different soil type and a different situation.

ALL Gardeners and farmers should be aware of the danger of permitting seeds and fertilizer to come together in the soil. All forms of nitrogen and potash are caustic to plant and to seeds; when applied to the soil, the
