day may be enough to show damage. Don't take chances with any atrazine on tobacco land.

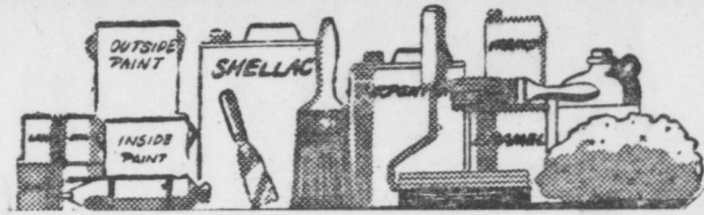

IF MOIST ground conditions continue during the spring planting season, the problem of cutworms in corn and tobacco fields may give some trouble. We suggest that the growers consider the practice of spraying the entire field before plantings with chlordane, dieldrin, or heptachlor. After spraying on the surface of the ground, the area should not be cultivated for at least three to five days. Cutworm activity is on top of the ground during the night hours.

THE ESTER forms of 2,4-D are more potent weed killers than the amine form; they are also more dangerous from the standpoint of unwanted damage to nearby crops and plants. From now until Oct. we discourage the use of any form of ester 2,4-D because of the many experiences of damage to tobacco, tomatoes, legumes, grapes, and shade trees. The vapors or fumes from this kind of material will travel up to a mile and do damage to some susceptible crop or plant. There is great risk by using any of the esters during the growing season. We urge only the use of the amine forms of 2,4-D in this county during the summer.

I LIKE the idea of alternating between various weed sprays in corn where the farmer is growing continuous corn. Since there is some danger of a buildup residue when using atrazine for several years, we suggest that 2,4-D be used to kill the broadleaf weeds in between the atrazine years; grasses may be controlled with the atrazine spray when needed.

STAINLESS FOR COMMUTERS

Although they weigh one-third less, modern nickel stainless steel railway commuter cars are considerably roomier and more durable than their early counterparts. Because they are encased in nickel stainless steel, they also do not require painting.

The rate at which food is digested or absorbed in no way affects its calorie value. If total calorie intake exceeds your expenditure of energy, you will gain weight.

A narrow but highly scientific survey of medication errors at a 300-bed hospital in Florida showed the ratio to be not one error in 17,000 treatment, but on the average, one in every six treatments.
