was a telephone operator in Elizabethtown and later, when dial equipment was installed, she worked in the office. Mr. Boggs also is now retired.

Friendship Fire company volunteers have completely changed over the emergency equipment — including the Fire Zone 7 base station — to the Boggs' trailer.

They answered their first alarm Sunday afternoon with dispatch.

Later they expect to offer an answering service.

During the interval of change over from Gipe to the Boggs, local firemen handled the emergency equipment and provided the vital services necessary to the community's safety on an around-the-clock basis.

● Of This 'n That

one suggested "Armed Forces Day!"

We thought for a moment that Jake and Mrs. Germer must have gotten instantaneous action on their idea!

Campaign promises are a "dime a dozen" these days, with politics in the limelight, and national conventions of the two major parties scheduled for early summer.

But one of the most interesting campaign promises we have heard was made by young Joe Wivell as he sought election last week to the presidency of the Donegal Annex Student Council.

Said young Joe, in his campaign speech: "And furthermore, I want you to know that if I am elected, you are all invited to come out to our farm and go horseback riding!"

It worked—Joe was elected!

The flowers and blossoming shrubs in Mount Joy seem to be more beautiful each year!

Right now the azaleas are a sight to behold—with rich splashes of their gorgeous colors everywhere!

One of the most startling sights we have seen was the wisteria vine in the backyard at the Dr. O'Connors' on Main Street—Hanging heavy and full of sweet-smelling blossoms, it had climbed almost to the top of one of their tall trees!

It is sad when a "senior citizen" passes away. Harry Hauenstein, until about two years ago, frequently dropped in at the Bulletin office, to say hello, to pay for his paper, or to tell us about his plans to fly out to Portland, Oregon, to visit his son.

Until he was well past 80, he made an annual trip out west, and seemed to love the thrill of the plane ride and the pleasure of being with his son and his family.

He told us once that his recipe for being a healthy octogenarian was: "Keep walking! Don't sit down and die!"

Have you noticed a vintage model hearse on the streets of Mount Joy lately? We have it on good authority that it belongs to Eugene Funk, west Donegal street, and that he and some of his high school friends are planning to stock it well and drive it to New York City to the Worlds Fair shortly after school is out in June.

And speaking of the Fair, the Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Ulrich of St. Mark's E. U. B. church had an extremely pleasant and satisfactory two days there last week. They went over on the train early Monday morning, and found that the Fair was not so crowded at that time of the week. They went easily from exhibit to exhibit, and did not have to stand in line. The weatherman, also, cooperated, to make sightseeing at the Fair just about perfect.

We live in a fabulous area! Within a week's time recently, one group at the Donegal Annex visited the national Science Fair in Baltimore, another spent the day at the Franklin Institute and the Aquarama in Philadelphia, and yet another toured the historical sites at Gettysburg.

A group of young Girl Scouts is to have a day in Washington, D. C. soon, and we understand the Donegal high school band is planning a trip to the New York World's Fair!

Science Club Makes Field Trip

On Saturday, May 9, fifteen Science Club boys from grade 7 and 8, along with their sponsor Paul E. Coleman, made a trip to the Franklin Institute at Philadelphia.

Transportation for the trip was provided by cars driven by Mr. Coleman, Mrs. R. Howell and K. Lippiatt. Mrs. Lippiatt also accompanied the group and was of real help in supervising the boys immediately upon arrival in order for them to see the eleven o'clock "Trip to the moon" planetarium show.

After the show the group had lunch in the cafeteria. Many of the boys brought their own lunch while others purchased theirs in the cafeteria.

After lunch the boys were given the opportunity of looking over the exhibits which have made the institute world-famous.

Comments coming from the boys indicated their impressions of the railroad display, original and modern locomotives, the intricate model railroad fully automated; some were impressed by the rocket display; others, by the making of paper and printing which was actually performed while they watched; still others enjoyed the ships showing the history of navigation; while still others enjoyed the observatory with the history of astronomy.

Wayne Lehman was entranced by the human heart, or a model of the heart, and it is understood that he made several trips through the model. David Lippiatt was doing some wishful thinking when he stated how much he would like to have a model or models of some of the ships. Barry Meckley was looking for a "laser" and he found one. Now we wonder if he knows how it works.

Tim Emenheiser and Charles Engle tried to get lost and almost succeeded, but were found before the group returned to Lancaster. On the way home the group stopped at a restaurant for "Shoofly pie" or ice cream.

Former Resident Writes Booklet

An original paperback publication, "Look Up Free", a 128-page booklet authored by Lee Ranck, has just been issued by the Friendship Press.

A former resident of Mount Joy, son of the Rev. Ezra Ranck, former pastor of the local E. U. B. church, Ranch is managing editor of "Church and Home," an Evangelical United Brethren publication. He now lives in Camp Hill, Pa.

"Look Up Free" is a major book for junior high youth for use with the interdenominational foreign missionary study, "The Church's Mission Among New Nations."

It is a narrative on interviews with teen-agers from a variety of new nations and it presents the thoughts of these youth on such questions as nationalism, foreign aid and the Peace Corps.

Ranck is a graduate of Penn State. He has had a wide writing experience for church-oriented publications.
