

Vote For Free Toll Service

The customers of the Columbia Telephone company in the Mount Joy area were the first exchange to accept the company's proposal to remove toll charges on calls to Lancaster, Landisville, and Manheim.

The "yes" vote reached 50 percent of all subscribers on July 28, and went over the top the next day. Of the 1439 votes cast to that date, 952 favored the elimination of toll charges. Company officials feel this response in less than two weeks after the balloting began is a tribute to the progressive spirit of the citizens of that community.

The Mount Joy area will

To Give Program

"The Four Winds," a folksinging, comedy team will appear in person at the Donegal Annex auditorium Saturday evening, Aug. 8, at 8 p.m. for a special show.

The program will include many of the favorites the folk music set has come to enjoy so much. "The Four Winds" will sing "My Ol' Man," "Larado," "I Never Will Marry," along with many new songs of the same humor vein. The program will include not only the comedy and riotous horseplay the boys are known for, but will also include traditional folk songs and also some of the more recent additions by such groups as "Peter, Paul, and Mary," "The Kingston Trio," and "The Limelighters".

now have another factor in its favor to attract new industry and new residents. All present customers will benefit by easier and faster calling to these localities. More complete communication can be enjoyed because telephone users will no longer have to worry about toll charges or charges for overtime.

The monthly rates for multi and four party residence customers will go up 90c; for two party $1.15; and private line customers $1.65. The original target date for inauguration of this new service was late 1965.

However, technical difficulties and the required coordination with other telephone companies in Lancaster county now make 1966 a more realistic date, according to a company spokesman.

Although balloting has shown that telephone subscribers want the toll-free calling, balloting does not end until August 15.

Telephone company officials welcome additional votes.
