bration when he delivered his "1000th Baby"—but that was nearly 20 years ago, so we have no idea what the "count" is now!

He served with Ambulance Unit #302 during World War I, and has had Indiana auto license plate #302 on his successive Fords each year since then!

He was named "Indiana Doctor of the year" in 1949. His wife, Flora, is still living. They have no children, as their only son died as a young man. Dr. Crampton's sister, Mindwell Wilson, also lives in Delphi. Articulate, irrepressible Mindwell still writes a column in the Delphi newspaper of which her father (and Dr. Crampton's, of course) was publisher for many years.

When we think of Dr. Crampton, active yet at 93 in healing the physical ills of mankind, we think also of a contemporary of his, Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who recently observed his 90th birthday by working at his hospital in Lambarene, Africa.

"Reverence for life," Dr. Schweitzer calls the admirable philosophy which he has thought out for himself during his lifetime. Northern Indiana — or the African jungle — "reverence for life" must be the philosophy that these two fine nonegenarian doctors surely share.

Mount Joy's new Library continues to expand its cultural services to the community! The "fountain of knowledge" bubbles higher and higher!!

This week 58 long-playing record albums were put into circulation for Library patrons.

A gift from the Columbia Broadcasting System, the records are diversified and appeal to widely varying tastes. They may be borrowed for a brief time, just like books.

We understand that during the first-night performance of the Lions Club's "Distelfink Lady," the live goat which is very much a part of the musical, jumped out of his pen on the stage.

The cast was aghast—but only for a moment! Ad-libbing cleverly, Roberta Singer and the others on stage, quickly maneuvered the goat back into his pen—and the show went on!

Fellow we know put down an area code instead of a zip code. His letter was delivered to a phone booth.

Creamed Cod On Waffles For Lent

Here's a brand-new, tasty menu idea for a lunch or light supper dish during Lent. Crisp waffles topped with a luscious hot sauce of creamed cod flavored with tart-sweet fresh Florida grapefruit juice. (This could be an unusual brunch or buffet specialty, too.)

Make the waffles from your own favorite recipe or buy them frozen. The sauce is a cinch to prepare; flaked frozen cod and zesty grapefruit juice are added to a simple white sauce flavored with onion and chervil.

This season, Florida grapefruit are somewhat smaller than usual, making them easy to handle for juicing. The juice not only adds bright flavor to this recipe, but you'll find it deliciously refreshing as a breakfast beverage, too.

Creamed Cod On Waffles

- 6 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon chervil
- 1 package (12 ounces) frozen cod (about 2 cups flaked cod)
- 3/4 cup Florida grapefruit juice
- 1/2 cup light cream
- 8 waffles

Melt butter with onion in heavy saucepan over low heat. Cook about 3 minutes. Slowly add flour; stirring until smooth. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Sprinkle in salt and chervil. Cook, stirring, to a simmer. Do not boil. Add cod and grapefruit juice cooking until cod is heated thoroughly. Remove from heat; stir in cream and serve immediately over waffles.

YIELD: 4 to 6 servings (4 cups creamed cod).
