Place Well In State Contest

Three Donegal high school students placed well at the big state gymnast festival, held last weekend at Penn State. More than 1,000 boys and girls participated.

Jill Cahrls, a senior, placed a strong fifth in the girls' free exercise division; Rudy Ney, a junior, won a ninth on the parallel bars, and Gray Greiner, a senior, was eleventh in the same event. Pat McDivitt, also a senior, participated in the high horizontal bar but was badly handicapped because the equipment was not the same upon which he had learned his routine.

The same boys and girls, plus about 25 more, will take part Saturday, April 3, in a county gymnast meet at Ephrata.

Fourteen schools in the county will participate. This is the first such county event and is sponsored by the Lancaster County Health and Physical Education association.

With Recovery Forces

Radarman 3c James E. Hockenberry III, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hockenberry Jr., of 105 Columbia Ave., was part of the recovery force during the first manned Gemini flight March 23. His ship, the destroyer USS Harold J. Ellison (was one of 20 vessels assigned to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration project.

Navy and Coast Guard ships took station along the path of the spacecraft's orbital track. The recovery area, whether one, two or three orbits were completed, was calculated to be between Cape Kennedy and the Canary Islands.

Several weeks prior to the mission, his ship underwent extensive training in recovery techniques and communications procedures necessary for smooth task force coordination, assuring safe recovery of the astronauts and Gemini craft.

Following completion of the project, his ship returned to her regular duties with the Atlantic Fleet.

The property, a landmark in the community, was part of a sizable parcel which formerly was owned by Henry J. Engle.

Included was the hotel itself, the property known as the old brewery and another parcel south of the old Pennsylvania railroad which borders on Apple Tree alley. That tract also includes one house.

What use the tobacco company will make of the property is not known at this time.

A company official said this week the properties were bought for possible future expansion. The company has several things in mind, but plans have not been crystallized. However, the added space will be used for tobacco processing and storage.

The Engle property was sold Friday and bid in by Attorney Clarence C. Newcomer for $16,000.

A company official, Harry Hitchcock, this week recalled the transaction several years ago when Lancaster Leaf purchased the huge brick building then known as the old malt house.

One publisher in the area, he chuckled, headlined the story, "From John Barleycorn to Lady Nicotine."

Dr. James Patrick Cooney, MD., New York, will be the featured speaker at the Lancaster County Cancer Crusade Kick-Off, Thursday April 1, at the First Presbyterian Church, 129 E. Orange St., Lancaster.

Dr. Cooney is the Vice President for Medical Affairs of the American Cancer Society. A native of Parnell, Iowa, he received his medical degree from the University of Iowa in 1927.

Workers have been named for the Mount Joy area and the drive will begin locally on April 5. They include:

County Science Fair At Donegal High

Nearly 200 pupils from 16 county high schools will be competing at Donegal for a-wards and college scholarships in the annual Lancaster City-County Science Fair this week. The fair began on Wednesday and continues through Friday.

The fair will be open in the Donegal high school gymnasium for the general public between 6 and 9 oclock on Thursday and Friday evenings. Prizes will be awarded in the senior and junior high division, with additional prizes for the three overall winners of the fair.

The top winners will receive a trophy or a plaque, and a trip to the national science fair.

In each of the high school divisions, biology, chemistry and physics, winners will receive a certificate of recognition.

In addition, the U. S. Navy will offer a Science Cruiser award to a boy in the sophomore or junior class whose exhibit would be of particular interest to the Navy.

The Lancaster County Dental Society will present a plaque and literature of scientific equipment to the student whose display is of interest to dentistry.

The U. S. Air Force also will present certificates of achievement to five students with displays in the following categories: aerospace sciences; electronics; nuclear sciences; aerospace medicine and aerospace power.

Junior high entries, all in a general science division, will receive similar awards.

Among the scholarships available to science fair participants are a full-tuition scholarship to Elizabethtown college; four $500 awards presented by the Pennsylvania Medical Society; and a half-tuition scholarship to the Lancaster General Hospital School of Nursing.

Two Donegal high school musicians will participate on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the 26th annual Southern District Band festival at Columbia high school.

They are: Marcia Strominger, alto clarinet, and Barrett Borry, sousaphone. There will be 187 bandmen from 40 schools taking part.

Three concerts will be given by the band — Friday afternoon, Friday night and Saturday night.

Pressure and more pressure is being felt locally to clean up the borough.

From the state health department a growing force is being felt as survey after survey is made of communities throughout the county.

Junk piles, abandoned property, open burning barrels, inadequate garbage containers, etc. are the targets of unfavorable spotlights.

The Mountville area is now under survey but when the visitors will come to Mount Joy no one knows.

Spring is a good time to look this situation in the face and get something done before unfavorable publicity belies the conscience of Mount Joy.

The word involvement has been much in the news the past few days. It's not a new word. Nor, is it a naughty word.

But, right-living people have winced this week as they read the story which brings up the word involvement.

People are concerned about the situation which has placed involvement upon everyone's lips. They are concerned about many phases of the situation. They are concerned about "What's next?"

While you're being concerned, are you wondering about supporting law and order, about being a good citizen, about taking some responsibility for upholding decency and justice?

As you consider the case, don't you recall the stories about people being attacked and even murdered while the victims screamed for help to disinterested bystanders?

Do those things happen only in a big city? Or, is there some of the same disposition to "not get involved" right here in our own back yard?

There is a need for involvement in Mount Joy in a lot of different fields. And—law enforcement is one of them.

Citizens must remember that when any section of society is not safe from another, then no one is safe anywhere, anytime.
