

Banquet Fetes Top Pupils

Dr. Charles M. Saffer Jr., assistant director for research planning for the Thiol Chemical corporation, was speaker for the annual Honor Banquet at Donegal high school Friday evening, May 14, in the high school cafeteria. His subject was "Education in the Aerospace Age," and with humor and great sincerity he told his young listeners that education in history, literature and cultural values, together with an "understanding heart" were the best preparation for living in our present world.

Approximately 200 pupils, faculty members and guests attended the banquet, which is held each spring to honor those who have excelled in scholarship. They must have made the honor roll for three of the five report periods.

Philip Longenecker was toastmaster. June Wolgemuth gave the invocation, remarks were made by Supervising Principal Wilbur I. Beahm and Principal John G. Hart. Donna Ray made the introduction of guests and Susan Musser introduced the speaker.

Miss Lily Martin, guidance counsellor and chairman of the Banquet committee, presented special awards as follows:

Gold pins, for attending 4 Honor Banquets: Dale Heisey Sherry Wolgemuth, Gray Greiner, Linda Nolt, Joyce Beamenderfer, Phillip Longenecker, Kathleen Brown and Debra Wolgemuth.

Silver pins for attending three years: Stephen Zuch, Annette Cramer, Sandra Trone and June Wolgemuth.

Bronze pins for attending two years; Nathaniel Gilchrist, Patricia Albano, Donna Ray, Glenn Sauder, Donna Ney and Jeffrey Hawthorne.

Special awards, letters, for two years not including 9th grade: Juniors — Barrett Borry, George Broske, Gary Cupper, Theodore Fellenbaum, Larry Hostetter, Susan Hostetter, Rebecca Kling, Gale Leber, Cindy Mumper, Virginia Nix, Bonnie Reitz, Karen Rice and Gale Simmons; Seniors — Annette Cramer, Nat Gilchrist and Sandra Trone.

Faculty members assisting Miss Martin in arranging for the banquet were: Mrs. Betty Lutze, John W. W. Loose, Mrs. Mary Margaret Peraro, Emerson Stehman, Bernard Thome and Miss Catharine G. Zeller.

'Of This and That'

by the editor's wife

We prophesied that Mayfixing up! would be an interesting, busy month in Mount Joy. It has certainly lived up to its promise! Ask ANY ONE. And it's not over yet! The climax comes this weekend, with the parade, art show, music in the park, vesper services, memorial services, a tour of homes, dedication of the Library and many other fascinating activities! How fine it is that Mount Joy has revived its old tradition of really celebrating Memorial Day.

We can be proud that our town is looking nice, too, ready for the big weekend. "Clean up, paint up, fix up" time was well observed, both individually and collectively. A rented truck swept the streets . . . hundreds of gallons of paint have been spread, inside and out . . . flags and bunting decorate several business establishments . . . thousands of flowers have been set out or planted . . . window and porch boxes are filled . . . roses are just ready to burst into bloom everywhere . . . traffic lines on Main Street were even repainted this week!

Yes, even with the pre-election forum, the election itself, the golf tourney, the many school concerts and programs, Mount Joy found time to "put its best foot forward"! Take a drive around town and see how pretty things really are!

On a personal basis, May has been a wonderful month. We had two birthdays to celebrate; we welcomed home our college daughter, ready to receive her degree from Indiana University in commencement exercises June 14 and begin teaching in Mount Joy in the fall. We had an unforgettable trip to Washington, D. C., escorting a young man who was seeing it for the first time, and at its loveliest. We were guests at the National Honor Society banquet May 14; we attended one of Lancaster County's excellent horse shows, and also Antiques Shows and sales. In between time we have spread paint, washed windows, planted flowers, set out plants, cut grass, and tried to do our "bit" of spring cleaning and

The National Honor Society banquet was a high point, as it always is. It is thrilling to sit there and look out at the more than 125 bright, alert, eager, interested young faces belonging to Donegal's top students.

The speaker this year was excellent, the food delicious, and it was wonderful to be a part of such a happy occasion. Athletes are guests of honor at banquets in many schools, but Donegal "pioneered" in recognizing high achievement in scholarship by that method.

As a matter of public information, we are glad to report that a situation at the borough sewage plant which had the community in an uproar a few weeks ago is completely under control.

A sludge bed which was empounded between the buildings and creek bank has been removed and the area is being plowed. The inert material which had been completely digested before being flowed into a lagoon area has been hauled to a farm field and plowed under.

An "extra" bit of interest which will be available to interested people over the Memorial Day holiday is a display of pictures and memorabilia which will be in the window of the room last occupied on Main street by Bennett's restaurant and Mengle's bakery shop.

O. K. Snyder will have on display several things which pertain to the business of his grandfather, H. E. "Pappy" Klugh. Klugh had a business at various locations in the area between 1897 and about the late 1920's.

Sewering of the Mount Joy area is practically finished. At least the underground pipe pipe installations. This week should see the finish of digging at the last spot, on An-Home.

Several months ago there appeared — somewhat mysteriously — a huge circular bed of roses, complete with retaining dry wall, in War Memorial Park.

This spring additional work has been done, including several loads of peat moss spread over the bed last weekend.

One of the show places by Memorial Day should be this colorful and beautiful rose garden.
