YOUR LEGISLATOR'S REPORT

Jack B. Horner
State Representative

The committee system is very important in our State Government. All bills introduced into the House are referred to a particular committee whose function is to determine if the bill should come before the entire House for a vote. A definite need exists for some kind of screening to determine which bills are worthy of consideration by the entire House. As of this writing over 2000 bills have been introduced in the House and it is absolutely impossible for each Legislator to be familiar with every one. Bills of varying degrees of importance are introduced and for all kinds of reasons. Much to my surprise I have discovered that some Legislators will introduce bills that they themselves feel are bad, but because of some pressure back home they go through the motions of solidly supporting a certain measure. I feel this to be a complete waste of time and money, and I refuse to become a party to it. However, my point is that somewhere along the line a method to separate the wheat from the chaff must be set up and the committee system supposedly performs that function.

Unfortunately however, this system can be abused and frequently is. The chairman is always a member of the majority party and secures his position through seniority. This makes sense even though it doesn't mean that the chairman is always the most able member of the committee. Each chairman runs his committee as he sees fit. Some of them operate in the proper fashion and the bills are studied and discussed, and the fate of each bill is decided by action of the members. On the other hand, some chairmen run the committee with complete autonomy. A chairman can refuse to allow the committee to discuss a bill, and, in cases such as this, one man can decide the disposition of everything which comes before his committee.

A certain procedure can be used to bring a bill before the entire House when it is bottled up in committee and that is a "Discharge Resolution". In effect the entire House discharges the committee from further consideration of the bill so that it can be considered by the entire body. This resolution must be passed by the same majority as is required to pass a bill and the vote is not on the merits of the bill but rather on whether or not it should come to the floor of the House. We have voted on several of the resolutions lately but none has passed. I am told we must go back many years to find a case where one did pass. There is a reluctance, particularly among the older members in years of service, to vote in favor of such a resolution because it repudiates the entire committee system. We all recognize that there is value in the system even though it can work injustices at times, and, until someone comes up with a new approach, I'm sure the committee system will remain.

John R. Hussar, chairman of the township's Democratic committee, issued a statement in which he questioned "the value of what appears to be a rather comprehensive Zoning ordinance on paper and when challenged with genuine functions, appears to yield to out-of-town pressure."

★ Worry Clinic

Fainting is due primarily to oxygen deficiency in the brain and this may result from mechanical inertia, as shown by Fanny's case, or from various psychological causes, to be explained more fully tomorrow.

So make a scrapbook of these daily cases, for they will furnish a textbook of practical psychology and also medicine.

Record Power Equipment Set

Pennsylvania Power and Light company has announced the results of a survey which shows that a record 62.9 million kilowatts of new generating capacity is now scheduled to be placed in service by United States electric power systems during the period '65 through 1969. The survey was conducted by the Edison Electric Institute (EEI).

The added generating capacity will be more than the total generating capability of the U. S. in 1950.

PP&L also reports that the nation's investor-owned electric power companies are investing $4.1 billion in new electric plants and equipment this year. In 1964, they invested $3.6 billion.

With a total investment in electric plant and equipment of about $57 billion, the investor-owned electric companies comprise the largest single industry in the United States. The companies' annual expenditures for new construction are about 8 percent of that of all U. S. businesses combined.

SOPHOMORE

Sharon Rehkugler, daughter of Mrs. Esther Rehkugler and the late Josie Rehkugler of Columbia R2, has entered Calvary Bible college in Kansas City, Mo., as a sophomore this fall.

America is the only country where it takes more brains to make out the income tax return than it does to make the income.

The straight and narrow path has not yet developed enough traffic to require a 4-lane highway.

If you are not big enough to stand criticism, you are too small to be praised.

The best thing about the future is that it comes only one day at a time.

I am not one to absolutely refuse to vote for a discharge resolution, but I do feel it should be used very judiciously and only on bills of a most important nature.
