CHICKEN BAR-B-Q

Authority Hears Council Proposal

Matters common to both the Mt. Joy Borough Authority and the Mount Joy Borough Council consumed a major portion of the former's meeting on Tuesday night at its monthly session, held in the fire hall.

George Groff, council president, appeared as spokesman to discuss two subjects.

1—The possibility of entering into a joint effort to erect a borough building. Location was not pin-pointed.

2—Whether to require connection to the sewer lines or to permit a septic tank at a building proposed by Harold Zimmerman on a lot along an alley north of New street and east of south Barbara.

Neither matter was resolved but both were taken under advisement pending further information and study.

Several citizens of the Florin area appeared before the Authority to point out unusual sewer assessments and to seek relief from "hardship situations." All were taken under advisement.

Authorization to accept water on a "test" basis from the Florin water company through a new connection to the Mount Joy system was authorized. With an eye on the state of repair of the Mount Joy pumping station, the Authority indicated a need to prove the ability of the Florin company to deliver water in case of an emergency.

Purchase of the Florin company continues unsettled. Decisions have been made but action has not been taken. Counsel said that "only paper work" remains.

Plan to Inspect All Motorcycles

Nearly 250 inspection stations have been approved to handle more than 70,000 motorcycles registered in Pennsylvania as the two-wheelers come under the State's inspection system for the first time this year.

Under legislation enacted during the current session of the General Assembly (Act No. 97) which became effective Sept. 1, motorcycles will require inspection during the same semi-annual inspection periods established for passenger cars and station wagons.

The next inspection period for passenger cars and station wagons, which will now also include motorcycles, started Monday, Nov. 1 and runs through January 31.

"Growing popularity and increased registration of motorcycles, accompanied by a sharp rise in fatalities from the use of this type of vehicle," said Harry H. Brainerd, State Commissioner of Traffic Safety, "makes it very desirable that these machines be included under our inspection program."
