Employ Summer Student Corps

Pennsylvania Power and Light Company has employed 107 students from 35 colleges and universities to work for the summer in various departments of its operation, primarily in a cadet engineer capacity. This special summertime program is designed to attract high calibre personnel with the qualifications for eventual full-time employment with the Company.

The students, selected from approximately 600 applicants, were screened by the personnel administration department on the same basis as permanent employees with preference given to electrical and mechanical engineering majors and specialists in other fields related to PP&L work. Most of these students reside in the PP&L service area.

Encouraged to return because of their superior past performance and high potential, some 25 percent of the group are this year spending a second or third summer in this program, each time concentrating on a different area of the Company's work. This long-term exposure, in addition to molding more versatile future PP&L employees, enables the students to examine carefully the electric utility industry and the career opportunities it holds for them. At the same time the Company is able to evaluate the students in terms of later full-time employment.

The program also helps to provide additional manpower to meet the seasonable peaks largely the result of heavy summertime vacation schedules.

CLOTHING FOR CHILDREN

As children grow from one stage to the next, their clothes must allow for this growth. When you shop for their clothing, look for health and comfort features along with appearance and price, advises Ruth Ann Nine, Penn State extension clothing specialist. Take time in your selection, for an uncomfortable garment may only end up being discarded.

Over The Back Fence

by Max Smith

LATE SUMMER continues to be the very best time to seed, or re-seed, turf grass mixtures, lawns seeded during late August or the first half of September have the best chance to establish a good turf before winter arrives and have a stronger root system for next summer's dry, hot weather. Since it is very difficult to repair a poor job of lawn seeding after the failure is realized, I'd suggest that special effort be used to do the very best job in the first place. A complete soil test will reveal the needs of the soil and these recommendations should be followed. A lawn soil without sufficient topsoil and organic matter, and without the proper lime and fertilizer elements will not be satisfactory and considerable more time and money will be needed in future years to make it the way it should have been in the first place. Homeowners who are contracting for new construction should have these requirements written into the "spec" sheet.

THUNDER GUSTS often include violent wind storms that damage many trees and shrubs; the one that hit many parts of the county last week left its mark on many trees. Broken branches and limbs should be cut off and the cut treated with a tree paint to prevent rotting. Damaged areas should also be treated in order to prevent decay or fungus infection. The sooner these injuries are treated, the better it will be for the tree.

DUE TO the recent dry weather in most parts of the county, many dairymen are utilizing their crop of sudan grass or one of the sudan-sorghum hybrids; growth has been slow but many producers are either green-chopping or grazing the forage after it has reached the required growth stage. And now with improved moisture conditions in many fields the re-growth will be quite lush and rapid; we urge dairymen to delay harvesting the second growth until it has reached the desired 18 inches for sudan grass, and 30 inches for the sudan-sorghum hybrids. To utilize the crop at a shorter or younger stage will increase the danger of prussic acid poisoning.

THIS WOULD be a good time of the season to discuss the water rights of farmers or other land - owners. I am aware of considerable activity in irrigation in recent weeks and no doubt for the balance of the summer. Any land owner is entitled to "his share" of the water from a stream or river that runs thru his property; he does not own or have any right to all of the water, even though the source of the supply may originate on his property. A person may not diminish the quantity or the quality of the water running from his property at the expense of his neighbors downstream. Since the size of the stream or body of water, and the number of neighbors depending upon this same source of water, ers are either green-chopping will determine a "share", it is difficult to determine just how much water one person may use. In many cases legal counsel might be utilized to determine this amount. A special Extension Circular, "Water Rights and The Farmer" is available upon request.

St. Mark's Sunday School Picnic

The annual Sunday School picnic of the St. Mark's EUB Sunday School will be held on Wednesday, July 27, at Hostetter's, rain or shine.

Family groups will bring and eat their lunch in the hall. Following the lunch teachers and assistants of the various children's departments will have games. There will be softball games for the youth. Cake walks for all will follow the games. When these are over the group will return to the hall for entertainment in the form of a colored sound movie of spiritual-science nature and a period of fellowship and refreshments.

Good toys are a preschool child's tools of play. It's thru play that he learns, practices new skills, experiments, develops his imagination, and works out his problems, points out Mrs. Marguerite Duvall, Penn State extension child development specialist. In learning while playing and having fun, the preschooler develops mentally, physically, emotionally, and creatively.
