SEVEN CENTS

Have you had a look at the new street lights along the borough's main thoroughfare?

The 66 new lamps, which were installed recently between the railroad crossing and Longenecker Road, are of the improved mercury type. And, they make Main street "light as day."

One of the interesting things about them is the way they turn on and off at dusk and at dawn.

Atop each lamp is a red projection which looks very much as if it would be an oversize neon tube "starter." That "red thing" is an electric eye which automatically opens and closes the switch on that particular lamp.

At eveningtime, the eye closes the switch and the light burns. At dawn, the same magic piece of equipment opens the contracts and the light is "outened."

Each of the new lamps is individually controlled. This is not the case with some of the other lights in the borough, including some of the other recently installed mercury lamps.

It's interesting to note that at least one of these electric eyes has a problem from others. The one we have in mind is on a lamp which is near several heavily foliated trees. The limbs tend to shade the eye. Thus this particular lamp is turned on a little earlier in the evening than most of the others. (But, it costs the borough no more for all lights are charged on a flat month—

Nurse Asking For Dental Aid

Mrs. Sadie Brooks spoke to the Mount Joy Lions club recently and made an appeal for funds for the continuance of the Donegal School Dental Clinic. The Mount Joy Lions Club together with the Florin and Marietta Clubs were instrumental in getting this Clinic started years ago. After that the State subsidized the Clinic in paying for the services of the Dentists for a period of about two years. This has now ceased and contributions must now be raised from local organizations for the continuance of this work. Fourteen organizations have been contacted for contributions to date.

President Jay Barnhart was in charge of the meeting. The attendance was very good for a hot summer evening with several visitors present.

Two Youngsters Begin Tennis Courts Work

Two Mount Joy area youngsters have been winners in a national sweepstakes contest, it was announced this week by Mrs. John Wealand, manager of the local Jack Horner shoe store.

The contest, which featured nearly 100 prizes, was sponsored by the Poll Parrot shoe company.

Third-place national winner was Debby Sweigart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Sweigart, Stony Battery Road, Salunga, who received a girl's bicycle, and the other winner was Gregg Bowden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bowden, 116 Delta St., Mount Joy, who received an U.N.C.L.E. gun.

Have you noticed the yellow leaves on the new oaks along Main street?

Most all of the young trees which have made such wonderful growth during the past two or three years are now having a bit of trouble.

Not that they are in immediate danger of dying but in a way they are slowly starving to death.

The problem is a common one in Lancaster county for the soil is a little on the sweet side for young oak trees.

Actually, and specifically, the problem is one of lack of iron in the leaves of the trees. The iron is in the ground but it is "locked in" in such a way that it does not reach the leaves.

And, the iron is needed for the vital process of turning food into growth. The iron is part of the photosynthesis process which changes carbon dioxide and water into carbohydrates by the action of sunlight.
