What American car is roomiest? Guess again

According to the 1967 Automotive News Roominess Index Analysis, Chevrolet is the roomiest car in America. Roomier, even, than those big expensive luxury cars—one of which placed second.

Chevrolet's Index of 291.3 is the sum of its seven basic interior dimensions: head room front and rear, leg room front and rear, shoulder room front and rear, front seat height. All figures are available on request.

When you combine the spaciousness of Chevrolet with the beauty of Chevrolet and the ride of Chevrolet, it's not hard to understand the popularity of Chevrolet.

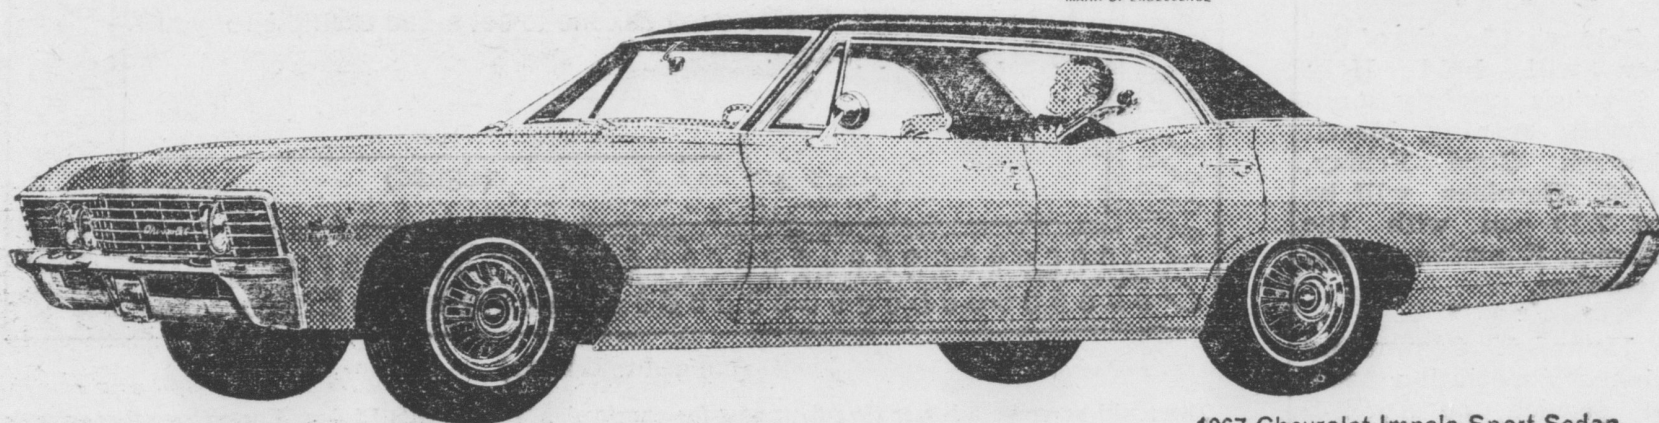

Your dealer can help you aboard the bandwagon.
