Donegal's baseball Tribe divided a win and a loss this past week as the young season kept rolling along. The record for D.H.S. now stands a pair of losses (both by one run) against one win.

Tuesday afternoon at Columbia, the Indians were doing a good job, leading 5-0, until the sixth, when the Tide exploded six runs to go in front. That was the game for neither scored in the seventh.

Hay, Sutter and Caswell did the Donegal hurling, combining to give 6 hits. Caswell, however, was charged with the loss. Hay had two for three at the plate, including a pair of doubles. Reuter also had two for three.

Thursday afternoon, April 6, on the home field, Donegal turned in a top-heavy victory as Manheim Central was clobbered, 11 to 5.

Duayne Casswell was hit eight times but fanned seven and gave four walks. Bill Reuter, veteran backstop, completed the Donegal battery.

The Tribe, after being edged 2-1 in its opener a couple of days earlier, came back to score in five of the six innings at the bat. The visitors' best frame was the third when they pushed three runs across.

Shortstop Bill Stohler had a triple.

Thursday afternoon of this week Penn Manor comes to Indian territory and next Tuesday the Tribe goes to Manheim Township.

An Editorion

The "why" which explains Donegal high school's science fair winnings is one of the most elusive questions which can be posed to local people.

So many ingredients go into the making of any champion that no one can sift out the exact single answers. Every reason for success is related to another until the exact reason why, in past years, D.H.S. students have been top winners and this year swept away honors at the county fair is even more complex.

Dedicated teachers, enthusiastic students, cooperative parents, an encouraging faculty, etc., etc., all play a tremendous part. How all these things combine and what caused all of them to develop in Donegal district is anyone's guess.

One of the best single factors going for the local youngsters these days is the factor of competition.

Nothing — and we repeat it, nothing — promotes success like competition.

Chas. Heaps Dies In Viet Nam Combat

The grief, the futility and the tragedy of war came to Mount Joy Monday when word arrived that Charles W. Heaps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Heaps, 351 South Delta street, was dead in Viet Nam.

Word spread rapidly and the community was deeply touched by the news of the death of a Mount Joy young man in the Viet Nam conflict.

Charles, a '64 graduate of Donegal high school, and wellknown to the people of Mount Joy, had been in Viet Nam since August of 1966. He was 21 years old and a private first class.

A machine gunner on a helicopter with the First Air Cavalry, he was wounded fatally Saturday, April 8, according to information received Monday by the family from the U. S. Army. First word of the fatality came to Mount Joy when two U. S. Army master sergeants contacted the Reverend Menno Good, pastor of Chiques Methodist church.

They then went to Seiler school, where the young soldier's father is principal. Charles was born in Mount Joy and lived all his life here until he entered the service. Before being sent to Viet Nam, Heaps was stationed at Fort Carson, Colo., and last June his parents spent a week there as his guest. Just before being sent overseas in August, he spent a 10-day leave at home.

Pfc. Heaps was employed at Auto Litho, Inc., before entering the Army in November. (Turn to page 8)

Marvin Foltz Fatally Shot At Maytown Bank Holdup

Marvin R. Foltz is dead! But the day of horror will continue in Maytown for many years — as long as there are those who can recall the nightmarish details of the Friday evening bank holdup.

There actually are two stories about the events of Friday. One was the point-blank shooting of Foltz and the other about the holdup itself.

But, because of the "it can't happen here" placid feeling of security enjoyed by us all, the death of the faithful lawman is the one which will continue to be told in the Maytown community.

Friday evening about 6 p. m., three bank employees—Gerald Lindemuth, assistant cashier and branch manager; Robert Hiestand, teller, and Mrs. Verna Wetzel, part-time teller—were on duty in the Maytown branch bank of the Union National Mount Joy bank.

Two strangers entered and announced that "This is a holdup." One tossed a bag to Mrs. Wentzel and said, "Fill it up." About this time, a customer, Raymond Burris of Marietta R1, entered.

The holdup men ordered Burris and Hiestand into the bank vault as Mrs. Wetzel continued filling the im-

Donegal Sweeps Honors At County Science Fair

Donegal high school virtually monopolized the 1967 Lancaster County Science Fair, held last week at Warwick high school.

The D. H. S. young scientists took many honors, including the two top awards — championship and reserve championship.

Kathlene Zimmerman, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, S. Barbara street, became the only two-time winner in the history of the Science Fair, having won the county in 1965.

The reserve champion is Mitchell Albert, also a senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Albert, New Haven street.

Both young people, Kathlene's mother, a science teacher and a newspaperman will be on the coast by May 8.

The champion did her work in testing of the effect of heavy ingestion of vitamin A on pregnant mice. Albert called his project, "Alkaloidal Identification, Extraction and Concentration."

The two this week are dismantling their displays, packing them and making ready for shipment of the exhibits so that they will be in San Francisco in time to be set up again for the national show.

Kathlene also won the county dental award and Albert won the U. S. Army medical award and Space Agency Award.

In physics, Robert B. Graybill, won third; in chemistry, William A. Sprecher won second; in biology, Alice M. Kleiner, won second; in the junior high division, Craig Greiner was third and Scott E. Albert won an honorable mention.

Thomas B. Spangler won a U. S. Air Force certificate in electronics and Barry Gemberling won a Barry honor in nuclear science.

Library Workers Set To Launch Fund Campaign

A corps of approximately 100 workers this week is ready to launch the 1967 Mount Joy Library Center fund drive, which is being coordinated with National Library week.

Workers attended a drive meeting Tuesday evening, April 11th, at the E. U. B. church, which was addressed by Harold Jenkins, librarian of the Lancaster Free Public Library.

Two movies were shown, materials were explained and arrangements for the camaign were discussed.

This is the first campaign for funds since the library was organized and the initial capitalization effort was made.

Since the Mount Joy library opened at Thanksgiving time in 1964, it has circulated approximately 50,000 books, records & film strips. Mrs. Gloria Straub, library board president said this week.

The immediate acceptance of the library as an important part of the community rests in the fact its use has been growing month by month over a period of nearly 2½ years.

To date, 35,000 fiction books have been issued to avid readers and nearly 13,500 non-fiction books have been loaned. In addition, the record library has loaned music to almost 1,500 people. A newer service is the availability of film strips. In a matter of months, 500 loans have been made.

Circulation figures show that during five weeks of '64,

HONOR STUDENT

Joyce Beamenderfer, 210 Birchland avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asher Beamenderfer, is among those listed as honor students at the University of Pittsburgh for the fall term, 1966-'67.

She is enrolled in the School of Liberal Arts. Honor students must have cumulative quality point averages of 3.25 or better.

1,626 books were circulated. In 1965 there were 19,787 books and records issued to eager borrowers. The year 1966 saw 21,976 books, records and a few film strips issued. During the first three months of '67, 6,535 books, records and film strips were loaned. Projecting the three months figure to a full year there appears that circulation could easily reach to 25,000 before Jan. 1, 1968.

Library people point out that these circulation increases reflect a tremendous interest and genuine enthusiasm by the users of the Mount Joy center.
