MAYTOWN

The fourth week of playground started off as tamely as any other week, but had a fun-filled, free-for-all finish. Each week offers shows, tours, naments, & games. But what about the heart-warming acts that happen but are never reported to the paper? It's hard to write about the many funny, and sometimes lovable things that the "kids" do. You can tell someone about an overnight hike, but how can you explain whipped cream, getting caught in the rain, sleeping in the school corridors, walking in the rain and finding people kind enough to shelter 25 girls, or getting a ride home in the back of an old hearse?? And then on the serious side, how do you tell readers about 12 boys trying to catch a runaway cat for a disappointed little entrant in the pet show? But than I guess these are the memories shared by the supervisors and the children on the playground.

As you may already have guessed, the girl's overnight hike was a success. The girls enjoyed themselves. The pet show turnout ranged from dogs, cats, birds, and pigeons to a live peacock. The awards were as follows:

Cutest — Cheryl Presnell, Jim Mohr, Frank Splain, Jr. Most Obedient — Harlan Haake, Deb Hollenbaugh, Mary Ellen Drace.

Youngest — Debra Hay, Lori Leas, James Landis.

Longest Hair — Harlan Haake, Cheryl Presnell, Robin Gerber.

Smallest — Judy Miller, Lu Ann Singer, Judy Miller.

Largest — William Landis, Don Heinaman, Deb Hollenbaugh.

Oldest — Karin Welcomer, Cathy Drace, Marie Splain.

Most Colorful — Judy Miller, Eva Glattacker, George Mohr.

Longest Tail — Geo. Mohr, Mark Presnell, Don Heinaman.

The bicycle rodeo winners for the obstacle course were Terry Haines and Greg Lindemuth. Winners of the race were Bob Glattacker and Carol Houseal. The best stunt rider was Bob Glattacker.

In the quoit tournament the winners were Gary Heisey, Dave Arnold, and Joe McLain.

This week offers a scavenger hunt and a bubble gum blowing contest.

Paul Smith, Loris Raber, Todd Hess and Paula Moyer. The Intermediates made jewelry with colorful sea shells under Mr. Weaver's instruction. Wednesday evening 29 girls hiked to Donegal H. S. to spend the night on the athletic field with the girls from the other playgrounds, however, rain sent all 95 of them to the corridors on the first floor in the school building. After breakfast Thursday morning the girls hiked back to their respective playground. Friday morning showers forced everybody to stay under the pavilion and all enjoyed playing bingo—prizes were popsicles, milk, and orange drink.

The week of August 7-11 is the final full week of the '67 playground season.
