The boys and girls of the community, their parents, the police or someone—or maybe all of them—deserve a special notice of commendation this week!

Tuesday night was Halloween! But, the usual hubbub was absent.

There were trick-or-treats aplenty but all were well behaved. Kids enjoyed the evening and householders bore up well.

Police Chief J. Bruce Kline said Wednesday morning that this Halloween season was unusually "quiet." There were, of course, a few incidents—one rather serious—which called for police action. The chief pointed out that it seemed that Sunday nights brought out some of the chief problems from the teenagers.

Mount Joy had Halloween for about three weeks but even window soaping was at a minimum.

Mount Joy trick-or-treat youngsters pretty well observed the Mayor's decree that Tuesday night was the single evening for knocking on doors.

So, another of the season's activities has come and gone but not unmarked by people in general that this Halloween was more suited to their liking.

Boys and girls—thanks!

Library Exhibit Open to Parents

The outstanding new library books for children, ranging in age from 4 to 15 (and of special interest to parents and adults) will be on display at Grandview Elementary school Library from Nov. 6 - 10. Here, in an organized exhibit, is an opportunity to see the books that are making educational and cultural history. The display will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Fifty-three publishers have cooperated to present an industry-wide and complete exhibit that school systems and libraries across the country have acclaimed over the years as an indispensable book reviewing and selection resource. In range, it covers more than 60 subject classifications. In addition, curriculum-related, annotated and completely indexed catalogues, which make the books of one's interest immediately accessible, are free to teachers, librarians, and other professionals. A feature of the catalogues is a special breakdown of books qualifying for purchase under the National Defense Education Act. Both books and catalogues are related to each other by a numerical numbering system.

For every Elementary and Junior High pupil—not to mention the parent or adult aware (or who might like to become aware) of what today's exciting and stimulating juvenile books have to contribute—there are stories...

School Employee Suffers Fatal Hurt In Auto Crash

A Donegal school district employee, on his way home from work, was killed in a freak auto accident on Wednesday night, Oct. 25, on Mount Joy's Main street. Bernard Spanier, 38, a custodian at the Seiler elementary school, and his wife, Lillian, were driving north on Barbara street. At the Main street intersection, their car collided with an eastbound auto driven by Bennett Fulmer, 71, and his wife of Lancaster.

The Fulmer car veered to its left, missed a truck, crossed the southeast corner of the Union National bank parking plot and its landscaping and slammed into the side of the B. W. Schofield home and barber shop. The Fulmers escaped with cuts and bruises, which were treated at St. Joseph's hospital.

Spanier, a former resident of New York City, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital in the Friendship Fire company ambulance but died shortly after arriving. His wife suffered multiple cuts and her condition was listed as critical.

The Fulmer car struck the Schofield house with such force that it buried itself in the building past the windshield.

Considerable damage to the house was done and was estimated at approximately $3,000 by the Schofields.

Funeral services for Spanier were held Sunday afternoon from the Hernley Menonite church and burial was made in the adjoining cemetery.

The Spaniers lived near Mastersonville on Manheim R. D.

Voters Go To Polls Next Tuesday

Mount Joy Sons On County Ticket

Mount Joy voters will go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 7, with thousands across the Commonwealth, to pick governmental officials and to express their preferences on certain other questions.

In the borough, chief interest centers around the selection of school directors and the question being asked concerning the proposed creation of the office of borough manager.

In the school director's race, four people are running for three offices. All four, of course, run throughout the school district.

On the Republican ticket are Robert F. Eshleman, Dr. Harold Fellenbaum and Dale Arnold.

The single Democrat candidate and the only woman in the race is Wilma P. Dommel. Because there has been some political talk about the need for a woman on the school board, many are watching this situation with heightened interest.

Council to See Bicycle Movie

Something new will be added to the monthly meeting of the Mount Joy Borough Council, which will hold its November session on Monday night, Nov. 6, in the fire hall.

As a continuation of a discussion concerning the riding of bicycles on the borough sidewalks, a movie is to be shown on the subject, "The Day the Bicycle Was Stolen".

The film will be shown by Trooper Grazer of the Lancaster state police headquarters.

A month ago a petition bearing the names of a number of local citizens was presented to Council by James Buckius, Donegal Springs road. The petition suggested that young children on small bicycles be allowed to ride on sidewalks in selected areas of the community.

NO ACTION BY STATE

On July 18, Donegal school district presented to the state board of education a petition seeking to annex for tax purpose a tract of land at the east edge of Mount Joy borough.

As of this week, that hearing—soon four months old—has progressed through official channels not one inch farther than it did the day the case was presented.

The reason for this delay, the Bulletin learned this week from Harrisburg, is that the stenographic transcript of the hearing has not yet been made.

Thus, the State Board, which has responsibility for the decision, has not considered the matter beyond the testimony taken in July.

It was learned however, that transcripts of other hearings on July 18 have been completed and returned to the board. No explanation for the delay is given.

A spokesman told the Bulletin that even if the transcript of the Donegal case is received at once, it will be too late to give it a place on the agenda for the Nov. 15-16 agenda of the state board.

There is no meeting of the board scheduled for December.

Thus, decision can not now be expected until sometime after the first of the year.

The petition by Donegal district follows a series of events which began many months ago when Mount Joy was selected as the site for a new National Cash Register plant.

As part of the conditions for location in this community, the tract of land upon which a fine, new plant is now nearing completion, was annexed into the borough of Mount Joy from Rapho township.

To maintain existing boundaries and to keep school and local governmental district lines in balance, the school in time sought annexation. That petition was denied by the county board of education, which voted to keep the tract in the Manheim Central school district, where it had been as part of Rapho township.

When the school's annexation petition went on to the state board—as is routine—the matter was heard on July 18, 1967.

Muzzle Measles Sunday

Donegal high school will be one of the many places throughout Lancaster county where the war against measles will be waged Sunday afternoon, Nov. 5.

The 'muzzle measles' campaign, is for boys and girls who have not had measles or who have not previously had immunization.

Donegal high school will be open from 1 until 5 p.m. and representatives of the various medical organizations will be on hand to administer the shots.

No one will be turned away but for those who can, a contribution will be asked to help defray the cost of the expensive vaccine and other supplies needed.

The program is being sponsored by the Lancaster City-County Medical Society and the Lancaster County Osteopathic Society, with the cooperation of the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

While measles is considered to be a common childhood disease, it is by no means harmless. In the last 4 years, 51 children in Pennsylvania died of measles. One child in every six infected have developed serious and often crippling complications.

Use of the Donegal school building for the "muzzle measles" program was authorized by the school board at its September meeting.

An Editorial

Next Tuesday Mount Joy voters, as well as citizens in many other places, go to the polls!

But, in Mount Joy, the taxpayers of the community will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on an important matter which will have a big influence on the community for a long long time.

The question to be placed before the people is about the proposed borough manager.

A "Yes" vote is a vote for a borough manager and for progress in Mount Joy. A "No" vote is against the borough manager and a watering down of the start Mount Joy has made in the past few years toward an improved community.

The decision is almost as simple as that. Either the borough continues to move ahead or it will slip into the background as other communities continue to develop around us.

Mount Joy has promise of a bright future, but it will take management and planning. It will take more time and effort than any of the present part-time amateurs have to offer. It will take more time than they can spare from their own jobs.

Unless Mount Joy is willing to take a progressive step forward, Mount Joy will take a faltering step backward.

Considerable is being said about how Mount Joy is keeping up with other boroughs—some of which do
