

MEMO - Mount Joy - 1968

- 1.—Work for an attractive, public park at the Cove, keeping in mind that this is one of the most historic spots in our entire community.
- 2.—Encourage public and/or private capital to launch a tourist attraction which will put Mount Joy "on the map."
- 3.—Buy and regularly use a borough-owned street sweeper.
- 4.—Press for completion of the codification of borough ordinances.
- 5.—Enlarge the "Music in the Park" project.
- 6.—Start now to provide more water for our community, cooperating and participating with any agency which is interested in such a project.
- 7.—Get the Wood street rebuilding project firmly and certainly launched this summer with a firm schedule for completion.
- 8.—Press for improvement on Manheim street between Mount Joy and the site of the new 230 Bypass interchange, including the drainage problems in the area of the Little Chiques creek bridge.
- 9.—Take steps to insure that property within the borough has fire plugs located within reasonable protection ranges.
- 10.—Begin immediately to develop plans for the newly acquired borough building, to make it into an efficient, attractive and useful addition to the borough's facilities, including adequate headquarters for the police department.

THE Prayer of the Week

The evening prayer this week is by W. E. Orchard:

"Lord of the night as of the day, we thank Thee that the gathering darkness so often speaks to us of Thee. It is when the light of day is done that we often grow more conscious of the purer light that shines within. The closing hours of day beget in us a tenderness towards eternal things. A feeling of homelessness moves our feet to seek for Thee, our only rest. The memory of unnoticed sins comes back to mind, and we long for nobler life. We become like the children who put off their garments gladly, who wait to hear again some oft-told tale, who feel they must unburden their hearts to some listening and forgiving heart. Be near us now, O Father. Amen."

The Hempfield Woman's Club will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. at the Landisville Fire Hall. Ann Herr of WGAL-TV will demonstrate, 'The Correct Make-Up for You.' At this meeting the Home Life Department, Mrs. Jas. Shuman, chairman, will conduct the fashion show of entries in the annual sewing & knitting contests.

Robert C. Kaley, 65 Stanley Ave., Landisville, a designer at Armstrong Cork Co. was named recipient of the Hempfield Sertoma club "Service to Mankind Award" on Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, at the Mount Joy Legion Post Home. Mr. Kaley received the award for outstanding work in the community including his service with the Hempfield Jaycees and Boy Scout Troop 41.

He presently serves as vice chairman of the East Hempfield Twp. Planning Commission and was instrumental in establishing first aid classes for the new Hempfield Ambulance Association. The program was held in the form of a Ladies Night — starting with dinner and followed by a program.

DIRECTORS RE-ELECTED

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Lancaster County Farmers National bank, held at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, all 23 directors were reelected. William Shand and David S. Warfel were again named honorary directors.

But by all means get into motion. Keep your joints lubricated by daily exercise.

It isn't even wise to let a new auto stand idle too long lest the cylinders grow rusty and the human machine likewise needs steady use.

Send for my booklet "How to Lose Ten Pounds in Ten Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c and streamline your chassis!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

'Of This and That'

by the editor's wife

It was just a little packet of yellowed letters, written in a fine old-time script, but they turned back the hands of time and brought the past to life.

In fact, the hands of time were turned back some 105 years, putting us right in the middle of the Civil War — March 23, 1863.

The letters, written by M. Smith Malhorn, were addressed to "Mrs. E. P. Anderson, Lancaster City, Penna.," and were brought to us this past week end by Charles Anderson, west Main street.

"I don't know exactly whose letters they were," he told us, "but possibly they were my great-grandmother's. But I thought it was interesting that Abraham Lincoln was mentioned in them—and Lincoln's birthday is this week!"

The letters are written on official stationery of the "Head-Quarters Ninth Army Corps", with one being dated from "Opposite Fredericksburg, Va.," and another from "Lexington, Va."

They tell of the soldier's wish to be back in Lancaster County: "I would love to be in either Lancaster or Harrisburg for Christmas, but I suppose it is impossible how I would like to visit Lancaster and hear you play on your piano—why, I would be right at home and would enjoy it so much!"

Then he speaks of sterner things: "I wish you were here just a little while to see all the gunboats and vessels and steamers on the James River just in front of our office—the single turret Monitor, the Galena-Weehawken and Minnesota and a number of others whose names I do not know . . . the Minnesota is just now firing. What an awful smoke she raises—but no one hurt . . . We are now embarking from Baltimore; from there to the western army under Rosencranz . . . it will take us two or three weeks to get there, but when we do, depend on it, the rebels or we will suffer loss—for we are fighting boys when we get started."

In another place he tells: "We are nearer a fight than the 122nd regiment for we are within 50 or 100 yards of the rebels and it is expected we will stay here the best part of the winter . . . we have conversation with the rebels every day and some of our boys crossed over to them and exchanged coffee and sugar for tobacco. They were treated first-rate by the 'rebs,'—but after they returned, they were arrested and put in the guard house. Such acts go to prove that if the privates had the doings of this war they would shake friendly hands and proclaim peace through this once noble Republic."

He quoted a poem typical of the day: "Our flag must be respected, not trampled in Viet Nam!"

Jacob and Mary (Overly) Brown, 3 North High Street, daughter, Thursday, February 8th, at the Lancaster St. Joseph's hospital.

The Stars and Stripes shall not come down, though traitors say they must! Thank God, we have a Captain, to his country ever true—We will stand by Mc-Lellan, and the Red, White and Blue!"

We couldn't help thinking—change the dates, the postmarks, the names—and the letters could have been written in 1968 by a soldier in Viet Nam!

CONTROL RATS

One rat can eat as much as 40 pounds of feed yearly and contaminate nearly 10 times this amount. Stanley G. Gessel, extension entomologist at Penn State university, says there are a number of rat baits on the market. When used properly, they are effective and safe. Always follow directions carefully.

When in need or printing remember The Bulletin.
