Moreover, it is good for city-dwellers to have reminders that theirs is an artificial environment highly dependent upon substances of life-such as fresh water and clean air-produced in rural surroundings. And as a practical matter, parking meters don't give much shade on a hot afternoon. -Selected

Florida Orange Breakfast Cake

Looking for a breakfast cake that both tastes and smells delicious, and is really quite easy to make? If you love to treat your family to oven-fresh cakes you'll be delighted with this recipe. It uses the juice and rind of Florida oranges for morning-fresh flavor and zest.

Valencia oranges, Florida's prize variety that is thin skinned and practically seedless, are plentiful now and perfect for pre-paring this cake. Finely chopped dates give the texture a pleasing chewiness. Best of all, this is a quick bread-no waiting for the dough to rise.

Orange Breakfast Cake

	to 3 large Florida oranges	1	cup finely chopped dates
B/4	cup butter or margarine	2	cups sifted all-purpose flo
1	cup sugar		teaspoon baking soda
0	CONTRACTOR STATES

sifted all-purpose flour boon baking soda $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

Squeeze juice from oranges to make 1 cup; reserve. Remove white membrane and grind rind in food chopper to make 1 cup; reserve. Cream butter or margarine, add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Stir in dates and orange rind. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add alternately to creamed mixture with orange juice. Turn into greased 13-x-9-inch baking pan. Bake in 350°F. oven 40 minutes. Cool; cut into squares. YIELD: 12 to 15 servings.

THE RECENT spring-like tions of employment. weather seems to bring the love for the outdoors to most of us. I've already noticed folks cleaning out their flower beds, raking their lawns, and getting ready to start the growing season. Due to the soaking rains of last week, many soils are still very wet and not ready to be worked. Farmers and gardeners are urged to be patient before starting their plowing or spading. Soils that are worked too wet now may not get frozen and will surely not be of mellow and fine texture for the rest of the season. Heavy farm machines on these wet soils makes them so hard that crops will not do as well in them. We often have heard farmers say they keep checking the moisture content of their soils daily until they think they are ready to plow and work, and after that they stay out of the field for an additional day or two. Don't be an "eagerbeaver" and make your soil hard and clumpy for the rest of the season.

DAIRYMEN THAT are grazing their milking herd of cows should give some attention at this time to the control of wild garlic in their fields; this onion-flavored weed is very hard on quality milk and could be the cause of the rejection of a tank of milk. Control may be attained over a period of years by spraying in early spring when the plants are 3 to 6 inches high with 1-1/2 pounds per acre of the low volatile ester form of 2,4-D. By spraying early little damage will be done to
