HAROLD FRANK SCHATZ

Harold Frank Schatz Sr., 62, Mount Joy R2, died at home at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Jan. 29. He was the husband of Kathryn Wagner Schatz.

Born in Mount Joy, he was a son of the late George and Mary Frank Schatz. A farmer, he was a member of St. Mark's United Methodist church, Mount Joy, and the Friendship Fire Co. No. 1 of Mount Joy.

Besides his wife, he is survived by five sons, Harold F. Jr., and Thomas F., both of Mount Joy; Robert E., and Richard C., both of Mount Joy R2, and John W., Manheim; a daughter, Dorothy G., wife of Elwood Flowers, Manheim R2; 17 grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, two sisters, and two brothers, Mrs. Harold C. Brown, Mount Joy, Russel C. Bainbridge R1, Carl Schatz, Mount Joy R2, and Caroline F. wife of the Rev. Ray Lupold, Cunard, West Virginia.

Services were held Sunday afternoon from the Heilig funeral home and burial was made in the Mount Joy cemetery.

About Organized

Quoting from figures compiled in devious ways, he said that the financial toll taken from Pennsylvanians yearly is truly staggering.

The lieutenant explained that the organization is made up of 24 families in the U.S. and said that five are engaged in operations in established sections of the state.

He displayed maps showing how the families have divided Pennsylvania for their own benefit. There actually are 144 members of the organization in Pennsylvania and 70 in Philadelphia alone, he said.

The Cosa Nostra is interested in anything which brings in money and could care less how legitimate the activities are. The "Four Horseman of Crime" he said are gambling, prostitution, narcotics and illegal liquor.

Gambling alone represents millions and millions of dollars each year, Titler said.

He told how small businessmen are loaned money, how the organization takes control, manipulates the business, using the former owner's good name, milks the business and leaves the proprietor in bankruptcy. This is a new and growing activity, he said.

Gangland killings are common and he told the hows and whys.

The speaker said that "what we find scares us." "These people are entrenched in every kind of reputable business you can mention.

Titler frankly said that the reason he is willing to speak to citizen groups is to collect their support in backing legislation for legalizing telephone wire tapping under court order.

The Cosa Nostra makes its plans by telephone to rob banks, carry out its murders, to transfer its money and to handle all its business. Police are not interested in the ordinary citizen's telephone conversations but in Pennsylvania it is illegal to tap a wire even in a kidnap case where such methods would be highly beneficial.

The organization is even in government on many levels and J. Edgar Hoover has said that organized crime without any doubt is the most fearsome problem facing America today.
