● This and That

and admiration of his fellow-men and citizens around the world. Men of good faith everywhere can take heart that their lives, too, are very much worth while.

Violence, crime, even war itself have receded temporarily from our lives. Instead, peace and good will, charity and brotherhood, are uppermost in our minds. It's Easter time, but there's a feeling of Christmas in our hearts. There's hope, though probably short-lived, for "peace on earth, good will toward all men."

No honor could be too great for a man who could make us feel like that! Dwight David Eisenhower, we thank you from the bottom of our hearts!

It was a sunny, warm June day in 1965. Across the green grass on the campus of Messiah College at Grantham, an academic procession was slowly winding.

At its head was a tall figure in flowering robe, a warm smile on his face. It was former President Dwight Eisenhower, who had come to Grantham from his farm at Gettysburg, to make the principal address at Messiah's Commencement exercises.

We remember the day vividly. It was one of the "perfect" times. In a relaxed, informal atmosphere, we were privileged to have a close-up look at a man we had admired many years from afar.

He was warm, a:able, engaging. He seemed completely at ease, and we got to shake his hand, take colored slides, and even get his autograph! We can imagine his warmth and sincerity will be a life-long memory for all those who saw him that lovely June day.

We saw him one other time. It was in 1952, midway in his first campaign for the Presidency, in the huge Coliseum in Indianapolis, Indiana.

The arena was packed when he entered. We can see him yet, as he came striding vigorously down the aisle, his arms high above his head in the familiar "V for Victory" salute. To a man, the huge crowd rose to its feet and remained standing for many minutes, giving him an ovation we will never forget!

We have thought of these things many times during the past few days, as we mourned his death with all the rest of the world. We are sorry that he is gone, but we are glad that he lived, and that twice we were close enough to feel his greatness.

Easter Services As St. Luke's

The season of Easter will begin on Saturday, April 5, in St. Luke's Episcopal church, it is announced by the Reverend Donald Moore Whitesel, rector.

The annual Easter Egg Hunt will be held Saturday, April 5, at 1 p.m. and will be open to children through 12 years of age. It will be held on the church lawn.

At 4:30 p.m. on Easter eve, Father Whitesel will bless the Passhal Candle and administer the sacrament or Holy Baptism.

On Easter Day at 8 a.m. there will be a service of Holy Communion, meditation and hymns. The 10:30 a.m. service will be a Choral Eucharist and sermon. Children of the Church School will make their Missionary Mite Box Presentation at the beginning of the service and then go to their classes.

The Junior and Senior choirs of the parish will participate in leading the hymns and two special anthems. Miss Kathy Gunsallus a student at The Combs Conservatory of Music in Philadelphia will be the guest organist on Easter Day.

The church will be decorated with Easter lilies, hyacinths and other spring flowers. The altar will have vases of Easter lillies.

An invitation is extended to the public to worship at any of the services in St. Luke's church.

Injured in Crash On Road 230

Miss Lynn Ann Madara, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Madara, 705 W. Main street, suffered head injuries Tuesday night about 9:30 p.m. in an auto crash on Route 230 of the Salunga road intersection.

She was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital for treatment and observation.

Miss Madara, driving west on Route 230 at the Salungt control when a car pulled onto the highway in front of her off the Salunga Road. The car came to rest across the west-bound lanes and was hit by another car driving in the same direction.

Miss Madara was thrown out of her car, which was badly damaged.

Joint Study Is Under Way

Work is under way on a joint plan for the communities of Marietta Borough, East Donegal Township and Mount Joy Borough.

The planning commissions of the three areas have commissioned the Lancaster Co-Planning Commission as consultants on the project.

The three municipalities have agreed to do the study jointly, hoping that adjacent areas have similar problems that may be solved most effectively and economically if approached on a regional basis.

The project is called the Donegal Area Comprehensive Planning Study since East Donegal Township is the link between the two boroughs, and because the three municipalities are entirely within the Donegal School District.

The cost of the study will be $16,938 with the federal government paying two-thirds of the total.

The total cost would be much higher if each municipality were doing such a planning program separately. This also would lessen the chance that federal funds would be available to finance the project.

The time needed to complete the base mapping, background studies, growth projects, plan proposals, and printing is estimated to be 24 months. Some work such as the questionnaire program; history, government, and population information already has been completed.

Also, information gathered for County-wide studies by the County Planning Commission such as land use inventory, park and recreation sites, and water resources, already is being incorporated into the Donegal Area Study.
