● Others are Saying

EXPLANATION DUE

Congress has certainly demonstrated the truth of the adage that "what is everybody's business is nobody's business."

Individually, each congressman is as well-meaning a citizen as anyone else. Chances are, he is fully aware of what makes or causes inflation. He, as an individual, is all for economy in government.

He knows that a government that lives within its means is the sole hope of halting inflation, stabilizing prices and protecting the dollar which his fellowman works so hard to attain in enough numbers to keep a family going and build savings for the future.

Yet, as a whole, Congress is acting like an uncontrollable mob. Its actions in cutting taxes and boosting appropriations far beyond Administration requests is a sure road to more inflation.

Furthermore, if inflation is to be curbed, Congress must enact legislation which will control labor's demands which as much as anything else cause the inflationary spiral to go higher and higher.

The behavior of Congress will eventually have to be explained to the folks back home by each individual congressman. No matter how meritorious his personal belief, his record as part of the mob in Washington deserves questioning.

THE PERILS OF SPRING!

Every Spring as regular as clockwork, the high-pressure salesmen appear on the scene peddling roofing, home repairs, etc. Some come knocking at the front door while others are busy calling on the phone.

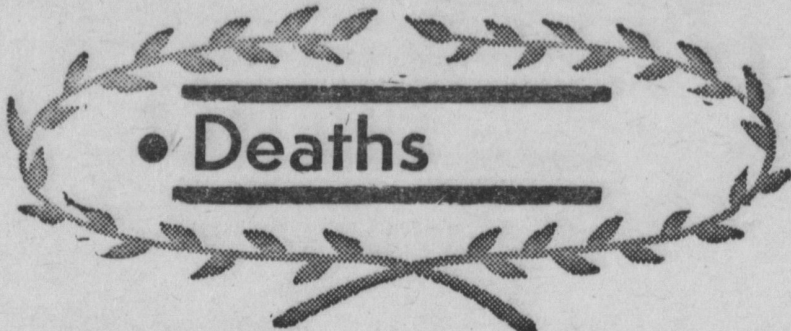

There's not a thing wrong with much of this activity — excepting that some are intent upon getting juicy contracts, usually from older citizens. And almost every year some of these older citizens find themselves signing up for a lot of stuff they have no need for.

And so — if you need repairs or think you do, consult a local dealer with whom you are acquainted. He will be happy to advise. Just make sure you know with salesman intent only on making a sale.

The Warwick area has many fine businessmen who can fill your every need with out an assist from some out-of-the-area high pressure salesman intent only on making a sale. Why this sort of thing becomes intensified each Spring is something we can't understand. But it still seems to be the case.

● Hooks 14-Inch Rainbow Trout

Rick Germer, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Germer, Marietta avenue, caught a 14-inch, 5½-pound rainbow trout in the headwaters of Donegal Springs on Saturday morning, April 18, the opening day of trout season.

Rick, a student at Beahm junior high school, caught the whopper with an eight-pound test line with a worm. It took him about five minutes to reel it in, then he almost lost it trying to get it in a net. He plans to have it mounted, to show his friends for many years to come.

Keeping up with the Joneses would be a lot easier if they'd slow down and stop chasing the Smiths.
