Each census taker will wear a red, white, and blue identification card. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce, and the words "Census Enumerator, Official Credentials" are printed across its face. It bears the census taker's signature and certifies that she is authorized to perform the duties of a census enumerator and has sworn to keep confidential all census information you provide.

Persons purporting to be census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to the local police or to the census district office, which is located at 800 Penn St., Reading, Pa.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is blue and bears the legend, "1970 Census." In the portfolio the census taker carries her supplies of report forms, pencils, maps, and other tools necessary for her work.

The following people have been selected to work with Estock:

Ken Kraybill, executive editor and production manager; Betsy Hallgren, assistant production manager; Brenda Gainer, business manager; Gail Geib, assistant business manager; Pat Greiner, associate editor for copy, and Phil Nissley, associate editor for layout and design.

Photo scheduling manager will be Bob Feeman and the chief staff photographer will be Mary Jane Eshleman. Roxanne Russell will be typing manager. Barb Kopp will be general sales manager. Staff artists are Jackie Bish, Larry Toth, and Bob Brinser.

Rail travel may be slow, but at least you can be certain you won't wind up in Cuba.

The Mount Joy-Florin Coin Club will hold its April meeting on Thursday evening, April 23, at the Mount Joy Restaurant, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Timely Tips for Women

Learn To Acquire Good Taste In Home Furnishings

What is good taste in home furnishings? It's not easy to define. You could say that if you and your family are satisfied with your home, if your surroundings stimulate your thinking, if your spirits are lifted by just looking around, you've achieved a tastefully decorated home.

It's not complicated. Good taste doesn't necessarily have the same meaning for everyone. If your home is to have good taste, it has to suit you and your family's needs. It should reflect you—not the furniture store window, the magazine picture, or your neighbor's home.

Taste, then, is the ability to recognize high quality and appropriate design for you and your family. Learning to furnish a home well and with taste takes imagination, time, and some study. You have to practice. In some instances, you have to keep working at it. You don't need to spend a lot of money to achieve good taste. The important thing is how you spend what you have.

When you shop for new furnishings and accessories, keep these points in mind. 1. Buy with the idea that your taste may change and keep future uses in mind. 2. Try to visualize furnishings, both new and old, in a room. The room and its furnishings should look as if they belonged together. 3. Today's furniture design is generally simpler than it used to be. 4. More different furnishings are available than ever before.

Don't hesitate to experiment, to do what you've always wanted to. It is your home, so let it express you.

Men's Belts Are Broad Reviving Old Customs

Men's fashion is in a wide, wide cycle — wide ties, lapels, brims, shirt collars, pocket flaps—to name a few. And now, men's belts go wide as an integral part of the new fashion trend.

Bright brass is supplemented with antique brass and bronze in the new buckles, and many are covered in leather to match the belts. Simple circular buckles, squared "Colonial" buckles, and paired cinch-rings are but a few of the popular styles.

While buckles of the new belts are an important part of their styling, braided and polished leathers, waxy hides, and patent leathers, some as much as three inches wide, get most of the attention.

Dressy calfskins, moroccos, and gleaming patents make it for dress-up outfits, while braided leathers, waxy finishes, and steerhides star for sportswear. Among the more colorful wide belts are some made of webbing. Their equestrian theme is emphasized by the use of leather double-strap fastenings, just like those used on belts worn by polo players.

James D. McLanahan, of 155 Cooper Ave., Landisville, has been elected president of the Hempfield Education association for a two-year term, beginning May 1.

McLanahan is a math teacher in the Centerville Jr. high school. He is completing a term as first vice-president of the H.E.A., and he also has served as chairman of the welfare committee. He holds memberships in the Penna. State Education Association and the National Education Assoc.

Elected to serve on the new Executive Committee are: William G. Grove, first vice-president; Merrill L. Snyder, second vice-president; Alan E. Shuss, treasurer and Deanna Walker, secretary.

Grove, a math teacher at Hempfield high school, as tee chairman in the near future first vice president, becomes the president-elect and the chairman of the membership committee.

McLanahan reported that he will announce his committee chairmen in the near future and plans an executive council meeting for early May.
