out the mission was found among the left and liberal members of the nation's university and college faculties.

Today more than 7 million students are being taught by more than 500,000 professors and instructors, compared with half these numbers 20 years ago.

The purpose of the polarizers is to plant in millions of minds the idea that contemporary American life is fundamentally evil.

The "cure" they offer is socialism, to be accomplished by revolution or a massive restructuring of existing institutions through redistribution of wealth, state ownership of the means of production, guaranteed incomes for non-workers and the creation of a totalist state — one that controls every phase of human activity.

Also, the cessation of military action against Communist armed forces on the attack and the establishment of friendly relations with Communist countries based on trust of their governments.

This is what polarizers want. They are all too close to getting it.

Higher education in America is in urgent need of a thorough house-cleaning. The American people have a right to demand that the job be done. It should be done by the custodians of higher education. It should be started at once.

more conducive to a more mature understanding of current issues. Course work in the public schools, ie. Pennsylvania history, World Cultures, Problems of Democracy, stress the importance of maintaining a working knowledge of current political conditions. I would venture to say that today's young people are much better aware of the issues surrounding political elections. And with the constant change of candidates who favor or are opposed to current legislation experience takes a back seat to a solid knowledge of current trends.

I dare say there is much more to the reasoning behind the lowering of the voting age to 18 than fighting for one's country or short-sighted politicians catering to the loud pleas of smart-alec youngsters.

Sincerely,

Deaths

MARY I. STAHL

Miss Mary I Stahl, 68, of 38 W. Market St., Marietta, died about 1 p.m. Saturday in St. Joseph's hospital. Death was unexpected, although she had been in ill health for some time. She was the widow of Charles Stahl.

Born in Marietta, she was a life-long resident of that borough and was the daughter of the late Frank and Anna Callison Kibler. She was a member of the English United Presbyterian church and the Senior Citizens of Marietta.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Hazel Snyder, Fairview Nursing Home, Columbia; and Mrs. Charles Gingrich, Columbia; and a brother, Penrose Kibler, Lancaster.

Services were held from the Smedley funeral home Tuesday at 2 p.m. and burial was made in the Marietta cemetery.

He was a retired plasterer, and was the husband of the late Cora Jackson Taylor, who died in 1959.

Surviving are a step-daughter, Mrs. Arthur McCowin, at home; four grandsons; one great-grandchild; a brother, William Taylor, Philadelphia; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Hawman, Chincoteague, Va.

Services are arranged for Wednesday afternoon, July 1, at the Heilig funeral home at 1 o'clock. Burial will be made in Lincoln cemetery.

Frances V. Shellenberger

Miss Frances V. Shellenberger, 75, of 961 Louise Ave., Lancaster, died at 1:30 a.m. Monday at St. Joseph hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Mount Joy, she was a daughter of the late John H. and Lydia Ann Kraybill Shellenberger.

A graduate of the 1921 class of nurses training at St. Joseph hospital, she retired approximately 20 years ago from nursing. She was a member of the Alumni Association of St. Joseph hospital, the Happy Hours Club, and the First Presbyterian church, Lancaster.

The last of her immediate family, she is survived only by two cousins.

Services will be held from the Groff funeral home, Lancaster, Thursday at 10 a.m. followed by burial in Henry Eberle Cemetery, Mount Joy.

MARGARET R. GARRETT

The well-known wife of the president of The Lancaster County Farmers National Bank died Monday night, June 29 at the Lancaster General hospital after an illness of five months.

Mrs. Margaret R. Garrett, 70, of 604 Race Ave., the wife of Robert Y. Garrett Jr., died at 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Born in Philadelphia, a daughter of the late Clayton F. and Margaret Dock Ruff, she was a member of the Bethany Presbyterian church.

She was a past president of the Bethany Circle of King's Daughters, the Womens' Association of the church, the Needlework Guild of Lancaster, the Lancaster Auxiliary of the Lancaster General hospital, and the Dance of the Month Club.

A past treasurer and one of the founders of the United Auxiliary of the Lancaster General hospital, Mrs. Garrett served in the Grey Ladies for the past 10 years.

She was also a member and past board member of the Iris Club and the Lancaster Hearing Conservation Center Auxiliary, and was an active member of Meals on Wheels.

Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, Robert Y III, Westfield, N. J., and three grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning. The family has asked that memorial gifts may be made to the General Hospital Memorial Building Fund in lieu of flowers.

Thirty-two persons attended the party. "Grandma Hiestand" appreciated the many cards and gifts she received. She is very active for her age. She has made afghans for all of her children and continues to make them for her grandchildren.

Personally, we no longer think that the fellow with the fastest car in town is the outstanding citizen of the community.

LETTER

To The Editor

Editor Mt. Joy Bulletin

Dear Sir,

After reading your editorial in the Bulletin of June 24, 1970 (Vol. 75 No. 5) I feel I must respond to the point of view expressed over the issue of the lowering of the voting age to eighteen.

Firstly, let me say that your analogy between playing football and fighting for one's country is very inconclusive.

Eighteen-year-olds do not only fight but frequently die for their country. Conscription forces these young men to do so, many times against their will and without the chance to vote on the very issues that send them to their deaths. Few young men are ever forced to play football against their will, to the death. But this is only a fragment of the reasoning behind the lowering of the voting.

Reportedly, there are some 14 million young people who will be enfranchised by this act. These young people must pay income and other taxes which are imposed on older people as well. This is about four times the population of the 13 Colonies at the time of the American Revolution. One of the main grievances of the colonial leaders was the policies of Taxation with out representation. Perhaps, this act is finally the realization of the ideals for which our forefathers also fought and died.

The part of your argument with which I take the most exception is your statement that today's young people of 18 to 21 are not smarter than the last generation. Although some current biological studies would tend to disagree with me, I won't go as far to say that this generation is, in your words 'inherently smarter' than the last, but better educated and better informed on today's political situation? Yea verily! The rate of the young people who finish high school and young people who indulge in higher education is much higher for this generation than the last. Not only the amount of time spent engaged in formal education but the education itself is
