NANCY NEWCOMER

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin K. Nissley spent their vacation in the state of Washington visiting Mr. Nissley's twin sisters, one of whom he had not seen in 26 years. Upon their return home they drove to Ohio and Michigan with their son Phillip to visit their children and grandchildren. Phillip is presently touring with the Eastern District Chorale of the Assemblies of God. The tour originated in Philadelphia August 5 and terminate in Harrisburg August 23, it will cover six states and Canada.

Mrs. Catherine Bennett and Mrs. Anita Kitch flew to Boston for five days last week to attend the American School Food Service Association convention, held in the John B. Hynes Civic Auditorium. There were two featured speakers, the first being Senator Edmund Muske from the state of Maine and Dr. Jean Mayer, special consultant for the White House conference on food, nutrition and health appointed by President Nixon. While in Boston they took a bus trip to Salem, Gloucester, and Rockport. During the convention they had the pleasure of hearing a two hour concert by Aurthur Fielder and the Boston Pops Orchestra

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Linton Sr. and daughter, Mrs. Fern Alleman returned last week from a ten-day trip thru the New England States and a side trip into Canada. They visited Mr. and Mrs. John Meston in Middletown, Conn. and drove to the top of Mt. Greyloch in Massachusetts. They spent a day at Franconia Notch in New Hampshire and visited Mrs. Mildred Butler in Auburn, Maine. After a day at Bar Harbor they went on to Houlton, Maine where they spent two days with Mrs. Linton's cousins and made a trip into Canada to see the longest covered bridge in the world at Hartland, New Brunswick. It is 1282 ft long, built in 1899 and has been in service since then. A day trip was taken through the Aroostook Company to Caribou,

★ Of This and That

Hotel accommodations were adequate, "but nothing like in this country," he said.

A soccer team from Berks County was also traveling in Europe at the same time as the one from Lancaster County, and their paths crossed occasionally at hotels along the way.

All in all, it was a wonderful trip, but Mr. Thome emphasized that Lancaster County is a mighty good place to be, too!

A rare event took place this week at the Larry Williams home on Longenecker Road.

It was the flowering of a night-blooming cereus plant, which puts forth a blossom only once in every seven years!

It is a cactus-type plant, and the flower is white, waxy large and fragrant.

Have you noticed the blooming of the red geraniums, white petunias and blue ageratum this summer at the foot of the flag pole in front of the Mount Joy postoffice?

Right now it is at a peak, and is just beautiful!

PHYSICALS

Physical exams for all Mid-Get Football boys who haven't been examined by their family physician will be given at the office of Dr. Newton Kendig at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon, Aug. 16, it was announced this week.

Maine which is the largest potato shipping area in the world. The thousands of acres of potatoes in blossom was a beautiful sight. Turning toward home they stopped at Freeport, Maine and saw the Desert of Maine which in 90 years has grown from a small patch of sand to 175 acres of sand dunes. After a stop at the Bromley Mountains of Vermont at a ski lodge where they watched turf skiing then drove to Hyde Park, N. Y. where they visited Franklin D. Roosevelt's home and grave and also the Vanderbilt Mansion. After a stop in the Pocono Mountains they returned to Mount Joy having seen some very beautiful country in every state they visited.

The 1965 graduating class of Donegal high school held their 5-year reunion Saturday evening, August 8 at the Mt. Joy Legion with 105 classmates and guests attending a dinner and dancing social event. David White, president of the class, served as master of ceremony. Those in charge of arrangements were: Mrs. Ronald Cooke, Mrs. Ronald Wagner and Mrs. Leroy Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ruhl and children, Becky, Jon, Lisa and Mary Catherine (Sugar), returned last Friday after one week in the New England States. They visited for three days with Mr. Ruhl's brother and family, Sgt. and Mrs. Jas. Ruhl and daughter Robyn in Falmouth, Mass. on Cape Cod. While in Falmouth they saw the play, "Light Up the Sky" starring Kitty Carlisle and Jan Sterling, visited an aquarium and took a ferry boat to Martha's Vineyard for swimming. En route to Massachusetts they took a ferry from the end of Long Island, N.Y. to New London, Conn. They also visited the famous Plymouth Rock. They drove as far north as Bar Harbor, Maine and Arcadia National Park. In Maine they enjoyed delicious fresh fish from the sea lobster. After viewing Mount Washington and a trip thru Story Land at Glenn, N. H.
