He was a member of the Donegal Presbyterian church. In 1951 he was given the Superior Service Award by then Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan. He joined the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in 1935.

Surviving besides his wife, are three daughters, Miss Ellen K. Garber, State College; Margaret G. wife of Robt. K.

Bucher Named Campaign Head

Wilson Bucher, a Columbia attorney, has been named campaign manager for Jack B. Horner, candidate, for reelection to his fourth term in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

A native of Marietta and a former Columbia District Attorney, Bucher is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He began his practice of law in Columbia in 1950 and served as the first Voluntary Defender Attorney from 1956 to 1958. In 1960 Bucher was named Assistant District Attorney and, in 1954, became District Attorney for a two-year term.

In accepting the appointment, Bucher said, "I consider it an honor to represent Jack Horner in his bid to return to the legislature in the 98th District. Jack is a veteran legislator, able and articulate. He is not only well-qualified and knowledgeable of the legislative process, but he has the sense and sensibility that make him an excellent representative of all the people."

Brown, Mount Joy R2; Rachael G., wife of Orval P. Lovett Jr., Newark, Del.; two sons, Dr. Norman K. Garber, Suffern, N. Y.; Simon K. Garber, Washington, Pa.; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

'Passiton' To Be At St. Mark's

An evening of unusual interest, insight, and fellowship for all ages will take place between the hours of 6 and 9 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27, at St. Mark's United Methodist church.

The "Passiton" is this year's successor to last year's "Versommling," at which time the entire congregation got involved in group activities relating to Christian education. This year's program, like last, begins at 6 p.m. with a covered dish supper.

It will be followed by a variety of now secret program items. Special sessions will be held for children, too. The entire evening will deal with the timely theme: "Getting the Word Around (Communication)".

Enthusiastic committee members are Albert Kleiner, Rev. and Mrs. Kohler, James Endslo, Georgeann McCue, Jestina Yeagley, and Les Hostetter. All the members of the congregation are urged to participate, and people from the community are cordially invited to a "different" evening.

John W. Booth Talks to Rotary

John M. Booth presented the program Tuesday noon at the weekly luncheon meeting of the club, held at Hostetters.

Talking to his fellow clubmen, Booth, in his own inimitable style, discussed the contents of the Rotary International magazine, published each month.

He called attention to various articles and commented. The speaker was introduced by R. F. Hallgren program chairman.

Fire Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Mount Joy Fire Company met in the Fire Hall on Thursday, Sept. 17. The President presided, with 17 members present.

One new member, Barbara Highfield, was received, and birthday greetings were extended to Fran Rager and Carrie Smith.

The Auxiliary will hold a rummage sale at the Fire Hall Oct. 3. A white elephant party will be held at the October meeting.

Music Supervisor Given 4-H Merit Award

An elementary music supervisor in the Manheim Central School District, who has devoted countless hours to the development of youth, has been named recipient of a 1970 4-H Alumni Recognition Award.

JEAN SINGER THOMAS

Mrs. Jean Singer Thomas of 118 West Ferdinand St., Manheim, was judged winner of the coveted award "for outstanding service to educational youth programs." A 4-H member 13 years, she has been a local volunteer leader the past 17 years.

Carroll L. Howes, assistant State 4-H leader at Pennsylvania State University, who announced the award selection, said Mrs. Thomas was picked from among the 500,000 4-H alumni who have taken part in the Extension Service educational program during the past 56 years.

Mrs. Thomas, noted for her elementary school music extravaganzas, first came in contact with 4-H work in '41 as a member of two Lancaster clubs. She completed projects in cooking, sewing, vegetables, and capons, and was a member of the county poultry and vegetable judging teams.

While a member she took part in Pennsylvania 4-H Congress activities at Penn State and was chosen to represent the state at the National 4-H Camp in Washington, D. C.

As a post activity, she served as a "grass roots ambassador" in Switzerland in 1951 as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate.

Mrs. Thomas presented lectures throughout the state of IFYE experiences, has been a 4-H leader since 1953, served as a member of the Lancaster County 4-H Leaders Council, was on the board of the Lancaster County 4-H Development Fund Committee, and was recently elected to the board of directors of the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Service.

She served three years as a member of the music staff at Camp Kanestatake, leader training camp in Huntingdon County, Pennsylvania 4-H Congress and State 4-H Club Week. In 1962, she was a member of the planning committee for the National IFYE Convention held at Millersville State College.

"Through the many efforts of 4-H, I know that the prime objective is the development of the individual. Many times the lessons learned may be hard to take, but anything worthwhile in life requires work plus its share of disappointments," Mrs. Thomas said. "Within our 4-H Clubs are the leaders of tomorrow."

She is one of three 4-H alumni to receive 1970 recognition awards. The other recipients are Miss Sally Brown, Littlestown R1; and Thomas R. Gilliland, of Coudersport R. D. 2.

Wise Gardeners Begin in Fall

Autumn begins the New Year for wise gardeners!

It's the time to plow or spade the soil and turn under crop debris in preparation for next season, and some gardening specialists say, "You don't know how good the earth feels until you've planted in fertile soil, mellowed by exposure to winter's freezing."

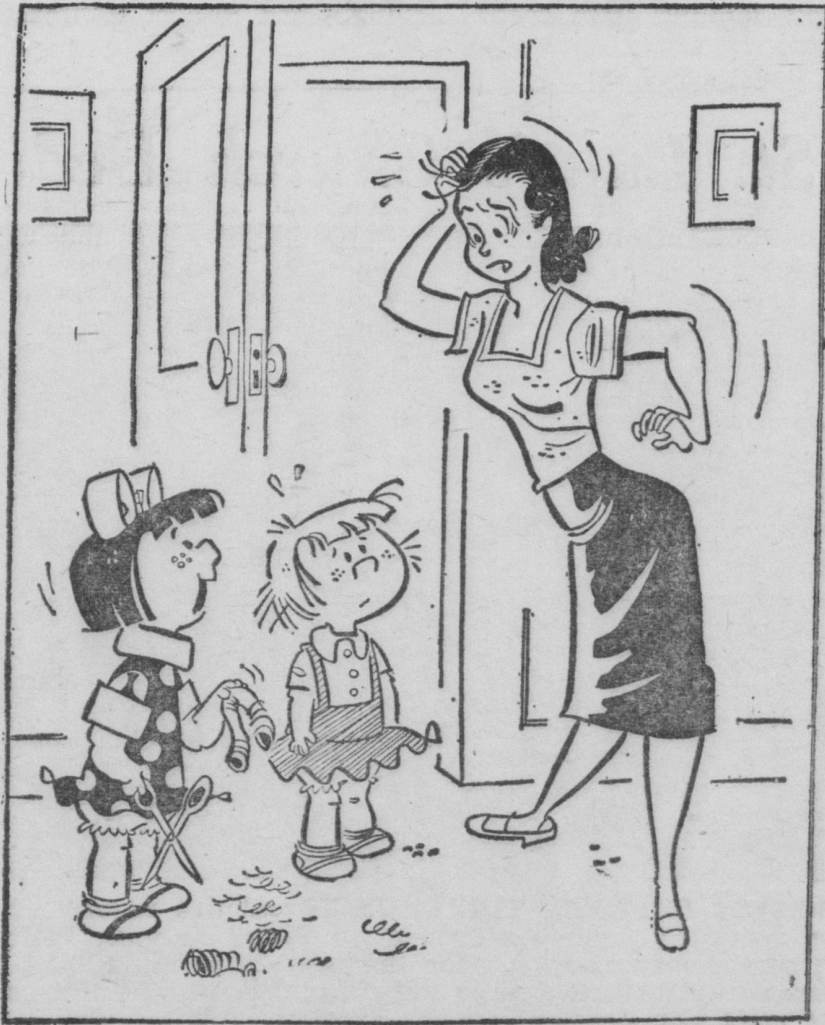

A home study course from Penn State says that autumn plowing is especially good if there is a heavy sod or thick coat of straw manure to turn under. Coarse organic material partially decomposes in late fall and early winter—then it's available for plants by summer.

When ground limestone is mixed with the soil in autumn, it reaches its full neutralizing effect by planting time. Plowed ground that's left rough over winter dries early in spring. Frost hardy crops like peas, onions and radishes grow readily.
