

Life With The Rimples

Over The Back Fence

By Max Smith

THE HORSE industry is growing as a more important part of our general economy; we refer mostly to pleasure horses and statistics show there are more than seven million in our country today which is double the number of ten years ago. Horses provide some leisure-time pleasure for one-third of our nation's population. For example, last year in our country more than a quarter-million 4-H Boys and Girls had horse projects taking care of one or more horses or ponies. While race horses remain a small percentage of the total horse population, horse racing attracts more spectators, over 70 million last year, than all professional football and baseball combined. Horses are still important animals in this country and many people go to see them perform in shows and rodeos all over the country.

Peter Paul Board Sets Dividend

The board of directors of Peter Paul Inc. at its meeting last week declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30c per share, payable March 1, to stockholders of record at the close of business Feb. 11.

Preliminary net sales for the year ended Dec. 31, were $66,328,000, as compared to $64,048,000 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1969. Preliminary figures exclusive of Foreign subsidiaries indicate earnings for the year ending Dec. 31, 1970, were 3,409,000 or $1.60 per share as compared to 3,085,000 or 1.45 per share for the year ending on Dec. 31, 1969.

Preliminary net sales for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1970, were $16,639,000, as compared to $15,757,000 for the same quarter of the preceding calendar year. Preliminary figures exclusive of foreign subsidiaries indicate earnings for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1970, were $816,000 or 38c per share as compared to 470,000 or 22c per share for the same quarter ending Dec. 31, 1969.

These unaudited earnings do not reflect the results of Peter Paul's 51 per cent owned foreign subsidiaries C. J. Van Houten and Zoon-NV and its affiliates. It is anticipated that there will be substantial losses in connection with the previously announced phasing out of operations of these foreign subsidiaries which losses are undeterminable at this time.

THE SHORTAGE of bedding for our animals is a problem on many farms; this has driven the price of straw very high to the point where it is not a good buy. Most farm animals need some type of bedding to keep them clean and to obtain efficient performance; this is especially true in the dairy business. Straw substitutes can be considered such as wood or shavings, sawdust, peanut hulls, or shredded corn fodder; with the large acres of corn, the shredded fodder should be utilized as much as possible.

IN A RECENT research experiment at the University of Nebraska cattle fed a soybean meal supplement for 21 days at the start of the feeding period gained more rapidly and efficiently than cattle fed a urea base supplement for the entire feeding period. It appears that a protein supplement based on natural protein is more desirable during the starting stress period for new feeder cattle. The additional stress of the synthetic protein, urea, may not be desirable during the first several weeks.

I'D LIKE to repeat the reminder that the proper raising of heifer calves for dairy herd replacements is very important. A Virginia dairy specialist has made the statement that the loss of a purebred dairy heifer calf is like burning a $100 bill. I am sure that many local dairymen feel the same way. If the calf raisers can answer "yes" to these several questions, then they are doing a good job: "Is the feed bucket clean enough to drink from?" "Is the bedding in the calf pen clean and dry enough to sleep upon?" Calf pens should be clean-smelling, dry, and draft-free. Successful calf raising now will improve the value of the future herd.
