INCLUDE MUSIC AS PART OF YOUNG CHILD'S EDUCATION

Even when your child is just a toddler, music should be an important part of his life, says James E. Van Horn, Extension family life specialist at Penn State university.

This doesn't mean music lessons but music from the fun side. Ditties and rhymes and simple little poems that will give him a start in learning rhythm. Melodies usually come a little later.

But surround your child with music — both listening-type and the participating-kind. As you go about your housework, sing and encourage your child to sing with you. Teach him the fun of singing in the bathtub. Let him participate with the entire family as they enjoy music by a sing-together around the piano or record player.

If you introduce your child to music before he starts school, it will be ever more fun for him there. Share his enthusiasm when he comes home all excited about a new song he's learned. Get him to teach it to you so you can sing along with him, recommends Van Horn.

Music can add new dimensions to family relationships. Sharing with music can reduce a lot of tensions. Let music be a part of your life. And teach your child to enjoy it with you.

BALD SPOTS

Baldness may be caused for many reasons: a local attack of disease, shallow soil (a rock present underneath the sod), chinch bugs or the doings of a dog. The first thing to do is to scratch the bare spots with a sharp tool to a depth of 1". Then make a nice firm seedbed and sow a few pinches of seed; add water but don't roll. The final suggested step is to cover the newly seeded area with a clear polyethylene plastic film until the grass is about one inch high. This helps assure that the environment in which the seed is germinated will remain moist.
