ENDEAVOR
 There is a fable about a dog that bragged about how fast he could run, but when he actually chased a rabbit he found he could not catch it. He said the reason was that the rabbit was running for his life, but he was only running for fun. We have times when success evades us in some field of endeavor. Of course we can't do everything as if our lives depended on it, but when we do something just for fun, or work toward a cherished goal, if we endeavor to concentrate all our facilities on what we are doing, and keep a receptive attitude toward new ideas, we'll always do our best and no alibi will be needed.

Capybaras, the world's largest living rodents, sometimes weigh as much as 150 pounds.

The term 'Checkmate' comes from the Arab "shah mat," meaning "the king is dead."
