The Prayer of the Week

The prayer this week is by S. Ralph Harlow: 'Now, in this quiet hour, we await thy presence, Lord of the inner voice that cannot be denied. We thank thee, O Father, for everything around us tonight that conspires to make our doubts take flight.

'We thank thee for the still, small voice that speaks to our hearts through the beauty of hill and tree and river. We rejoice in the message that comes to our out-reaching minds from tall trees and green slopes, and from the silver glory of water across the valley. We thrill to the sunset wonder on far-off fleecy clouds and the twilight singing of little birds seeking their nests. All thy world speaks to us tonight of thy care for us, of thy creative love.

'We are very glad that the beauty of these common things is so freely given in such abundance; that iron gates and high walls cannot shut out from the humble and the poor the glory of light on water and on land, nor hide the mountain top from the eyes of common folk.

'We thank thee for the mystery of the sacrament of life, for the nearness of death, that stirs within us thoughts of immortality and anchors our spirits to thee. Amen.'

"UL" SEAL INDICATES PRODUCT SAFETY

The little "UL" seal stamped on some products means more than its size suggests. Extension home management specialists at Penn State say that the Underwriters' Laboratories symbol means the item meets rigorous safety standards. The organization is dependent and non profit.

UL label, explain the Extension specialists.

The emphasis at UL is on safety rather than convenience or satisfaction. And contrary to what many people think, the federal government does not require testing of appliances before they are marketed.

Each year, over 30,000 new products are submitted by manufacturers at their own expense to UL for safety testing. The tests are for electrical safety, as well as to see if items really can be declared "fireproof," "waterproof," or "burglarproof."

In addition to electrical products, other types of products are tested. Flooring and roofing materials, safes, cleaning fluids, flame resistant fabrics, step ladders, flooring materials, pressure cookers and fire alarms are among the products which might carry a
