

Local Man Heads Museum

Appointment of Carroll J. Hopf, Trout Run Road, Mount Joy R1, as Director of the Pennsylvania Farm Museum of Landis Valley, has been announced by William J. Wever, executive director of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

Director Hopf, 34, succeeds Banche K. Reigle, who retired last year after many years of service in the post. Since June of 1966, he had served as Curator of Collections at the Farm Museum, and also as acting director since Mrs. Reigle's retirement.

The Hopf family lives in the beautifully restored stone house in East Donegal Township, south of Donegal Springs owned by the publisher of "Spinning Wheel," a widely circulated magazine for people interested in antiques.

A native of Cincinnati, O., Hopf received his BS in Education from Miami University of Ohio in '64, and took his MA in History Museum Training from the State University of New York and the New York State Historical Association in 1965.

Prior to joining the staff of the Bureau of Museums, PHMC, in mid-1966, he served as Curator for the St. Croix Landmarks Society, Saint Croix, U. S. Virgin Islands.

Director Hopf has published several articles in "Spinning Wheel," "Pennsylvania Folklife," and "Der Deggeboe," quarterly publication of The Pennsylvania German Society. He also has served as co-editor of two important special crafts books: Pennsylvania Fraktur & Color Drawings (1969), and The Blacksmith, Artisan Within the Early Community (1972).

His wife, Claudia, is an expert practitioner and instructor of the unique art of "Scheuenschnitte," or scissor-cutting paper and fabrics into fanciful designs. They are the parents of one son.

Rotary Hears Dr. Morley J. Mays

Dr. Morley J. Mays, president of Elizabethtown college, was the speaker Tuesday noon Feb. 27, at the Mount Joy Rotary club, held at Hostetters.

With a provocative discussion of education as it has been and as it appears to be changing, he entitled his 30-minute talk, "The Rise and Fall of the Lock Step."

He showed how for many generations both public schools and higher education have followed the same "lock step" format of time and schedules and how a block pattern has been the method.

But, he said, that is changing in America. For instance, he revealed the Commonwealth is looking toward the formation of a "Ben Franklin University" which will grant degrees to adults based on their total education, including work experience, self education, study, travel and others. A degree would be given, following an examination, if the student can demonstrate that he has the knowledge.

He cited a similar adult program which Elizabethtown college has been carrying on at the Cameron Mansion the past two years. Middle management people have been given special educational advantages. Health agency administrators and those charged with patient care—all mature people—have been given special courses, tailor-made for their needs, leading toward degrees they need.

Dr. Mays was introduced by Dr. David E. Schlosser, vice-president and program chairman.

James Heisey was introduced as a new member of the club and inducted by Charles O. Groff.

Special guests of the club were Jerry Alleman and Elias Musser.

OK Housing; But Nix Mobiles

A mobile home development has been rejected and a 550-unit condominium complex has been accepted by East Donegal township.

Zoning Hearing board members and township supervisors have taken action following lengthy deliberations and study of the two proposals.

The two involve land along Road 441 within a mile of each other.

The mobile home area would have been located north of Marietta at the north-west intersection of the state highway and the Colebrook road. The housing complex is to be almost directly across the highway from the River-view elementary school.

Developers for the housing complex is the Clabel company, which also operates several other sizable "villages" in the area.

Of This and That

Also, the husband of a deceased sister, Mary, Norman L. Rutt of Elizabethtown was present.

For Mr. Nissley, whose brothers and sisters originally numbered six, three are living and were there: Lloyd E. Nissley, Elizabethtown R2; Earl E. Nissley, Elizabethtown R4, and Ruth (Mrs. Ira) Sensenich of Lititz. In addition, the widow of a brother, Paul, Mrs. Esther Nissley, was in attendance.

We read an article not long ago entitled "Don't Miss the 'Sugar Plums' on the Tree of Life!"

It was a dissertation on the fact that one should never be bored—there are too many interesting things to do which will give color and excitement to life.

The article got specific, and mentioned quite a few: "the thrill of looking down on the glittering lights of a big city at night; the delight of sailing in a stiff breeze, the challenge of mountain climbing and the succulence of broiled lobster . . ."

"The crackling vigor of a Western rodeo, the majesty of a stirring symphony concert and the quiet restfulness of a weekend in the mountains . . . the excitement of a major league baseball game, the dazzle of a spectacular ice show, the grandeur of grand opera and the adventure of deep sea fishing . . ."

"what it's like to cook a meal over an open fire and put up for the night in a sleeping bag under the stars . . . what goes on in a coal mine, an automobile assembly plant, a cattle ranch, and a brewery . . ."
