Of This and That

outside Northeast, Md., where Dr. Barnhart and his brother, Dr. Jay Barnhart Jr., are practicing physicians.

But it is not a usual home. Oh no! It is a windmill!

When the Barnharts began looking for a home, they knew they wanted it close to the water, for both of them spent many happy hours when they were growing up, in the Bay area.

When they found the windmill, practically at the water's edge, they said, "This is it!"

It sits high on a ledge overlooking the river, about 20 feet back from the shore. It originally was the windmill for a large plantation in that section of Maryland. Windows look out across the water; the interior is warm, livable and comfortable. Fishing, swimming and their hobby of sailboating couldn't possibly be any handier!

There are two floors which they use. On the lower floor are the kitchen and dining room. On the floor above are the living room and bedrooms. They have plans to add other rooms on the ground level sometime in the future.

But for the present, Barry, Joanne and their two little girls and little boy are enjoying their fascinating, exciting and adventuresome home, just as it is!

Music is always a big part of the Easter season. Through the centuries mankind has tried to express his joy about the Resurrection in music. We felt this joy in Easter Week, 1973, in several ways:

In Emanuel and Trinity United Methodist churches at Indian-town Gap, where our son-in-law is pastor, we shared two nights in revival services where duets by a husband and wife and by a father and daughter added glory to the sermons of Evangelist Dave Barr.

At an Evangelical Congregational church in Akron, Pa., Wednesday night we thrilled to the gospel singing of a group of dedicated young people, "The New Creations," for which the son of good friends of ours plays the drums. Four lovely young voices, a piano, electric guitar and the drums combined to present a final medley of songs on the Easter theme so beautiful that it brought tears to our eyes and a lump to our throats!

Then on Sunday, in a Lancaster
