NANCY NEWCOMER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heaps spent time this fall touring the New England States. They traveled the country roads and enjoyed the beautiful colored foliage and picturesque country side. They saw a maple sugar factory in operation in Vermont and marveled at the process involved to make candy. Also in Vermont they visited a granite quarry. While in New Hampshire they viewed the Great Stone Face, stayed in the quaint New England town of North Conway, took a skimobile ride to the summit of Mt. Cranmore and took a boat ride on Lake Winnepesaukee.

While in Massachusetts they saw many historic sites in the old cities of Boston, Salem, Lexington, Concord. They were impressed with the narrow, quaint cobblestone streets. They toured Harvard University and saw the glass flower museum.

They spent time in Plymouth, Cape Cod and Provincetown, an artist colony with small shops and cobblestone streets. The final stop on their trip was New Port, Rhode Island and Mystic, Connecticut where they spent time at the Maritime Museum.
